More Troops Rushed to Paris as Crisis Nears

GOVERNMENT'S FATE AT STAKE, DALADIER SAYS

25,000 Soldiers Garrisoned in Capital as Premier Acts to Combat Strike.

LEAVE JOBS TOMORROW

French Walk-out Branded as 'Harmful Propaganda' With Hidden Goal.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Premier Daladier, warning that "the fate of the regime and the nation may be at stake," marched troops to vital centers today and placed all public services under military control in an effort to break the scheduled general strike.

Posters announcing decrees which transferred public service workers from civil to military control were put up this morning all over the capital.

Army detachments rode into Paris by truck and rail to swell the ranks of 25,000 soldiers already garrisoned in the capital district, while thousands of mobile guards and gendarmes were massed in labor centers ready for duty.

Starts In Early Morning.

The 24-hour strike, called by the powerful General Confederation of Labor, was scheduled to start at 4 a. m. tomorrow.

In a report to President Lebrun, Daladier said:

"Harmful propaganda, of which the government knows both the hidden goal and the inspiration, is attempting by rising against the laws of the republic to create in the country a state of agitation that threatens not only to compromise public order but to influence the external situation of France in a most dangerous way.

"The government, which will let none of the rights it holds by law be limited and which will fail in none of its duties toward the republic, will be able to take all necessary measures to face events."

Decrees Extended.

The premier's requisition decrees, which already have placed railways under military control,

Making It a Merry Christmas Is a Lot of Work

BESIDES SANTA THERE ARE . . . Everyone knows this whiskered, old myth-eaten gent has a lot of work to do Christmas eve, and even before, as he makes a gallant effort to please folks with the gifts he hangs on the tree, but . . .

TREE-CHOPPERS . . . Woodsmen like this husky Colorado youth must beat Santa into millions of homes with Christmas trees. Their holiday rush is to frosty forests. Those evergreen boughs will be loaded with tinsel and toys.

TOYMAKERS . . . Thousands of workers in Toyland and doll hospitals must toil like this painstaking lady. For there's hard work back of every starry-eyed dolly that's hugged when the Christmas bells ring out.

FOUNDRYMEN . . . And into the merry peals of Christmas bells goes the labor of husky foundrymen who cast them from molten metal. They are balanced and carefully toned. Christmas morn they summon folks to candle-lit churches.

CANDLEMAKERS . . . Hours of hot work go into Christmas candles. This candlemaker is pouring moulten wax down already well-coated wicks. He can make more than 500 candles a day. They'll gleam greetings from many windows.

AND GREETING CARRIERS. Greetings and gifts are the mail man's burden for many days before Christmas. This one has a regular Santa's pack. Postal employes guide Christmas cheer by truck, plane and train throughout the nation.

WILSON PLEAS GIVEN LITTLE CONSIDERATION

State Officials Indicate No Action Taken Yet on Move to Win Clemency.

ADDRESSED TO GOVERNOR

Petitions in Circulation Here Ask Davey to Reduce Charge Against Slayer of Girl.

Dispatches from Columbus today indicated that as yet state officials have given little consideration to the movement to win clemency for Charles Wilson, 25, Mansfield, serving a life term for the slaying of Jean Moorhead in April of 1936.

Daniel S. Earhart, executive secretary of Governor Martin L. Davey, said several letters had been received from friends and relatives of Wilson, asking clemency but were being given no special consideration.

Jurors Send Letters.

Earhart said a couple of the letters had been received from jurors in the Wilson case saying that the writers believed Wilson had been dealt with too harshly. He did not divulge the names of the jurors.

Meanwhile it was learned here that petitions being circulated in Mansfield on Wilson's behalf were addressed to the governor and asked that the charge against him be reduced.

Claim Verdict Too Severe.

The text was quoted by a person who was asked to sign it, but refused to permit his name to be used as saying:

"Governor Martin L. Davey—

"We, the citizens of Mansfield, Richland county, Ohio, feel that the case of Charles Wilson was dealt with too severely and hereby petition you to reduce the charge to a lesser degree."

Judge Harry Jewell, chairman of the state patrol board, was quoted in an International News Service dispatch to The News-Journal as saying that Wilson's only hope for clemency would lie in a reduction in his sentence by Davey. Otherwise, Jewell said, Wilson's case cannot come before the parole board because of the first degree conviction, which makes a life sentence mandatory.

Wilson was sentenced to Ohio penitintiary only two and a half years ago, and later was transferred to London prison farm.

Sees No Power.

'Poor' Man Has Estate Of $20,900

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)— Robert Mooney, 65, who died in a shabby rooming house here, was found today by authorities to have had $900 in money in a trunk and bank deposits totaling more than $20,000.

Mooney died of a heart attack. He was found to have been treated by a city physician recently as a charity patient. He had lived in the rooming house since 1910 and had not worked in that time, it was learned.

Mooney is survived by a brother, John, a lawyer in Philadelphia.

COURT ORDERS SPARKS BACK TO HIGHWAY POST

Reinstatement of Discharged Engineer Directed; Davey's 'Wrath' Criticized.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Harry A. Sparks, whose position as state highway engineer was abolished after he testified before the state graft investigating committee last winter, was ordered re-instated by the Franklin county common pleas court today.

A civil service employe, Sparks filed suit to compel highway department officials to re-instate him on the grounds that his dismissal last March was for "political reasons."

Testified On Hot Mix.

Sparks had testified before the committee that the state paid exorbitant prices for "hot mix" road materials. In a statement at the time of Sparks' dismissal, Governor Davey accused him of being "disloyal." Later, John Jaster, former highway director, said Sparks was dismissed for economy reasons.

In his decisions, Judge Charles A. Leach said, "admittedly the respondent (Jaster) was angry at the relator (Sparks) and believed him to be guilty of disloyalty and insubordination; and admittedly he was motivated—primarily—by the relator's claimed disloyalty and insubordination.

"It is not to be expected that under the circumstances admission should go further. On the whole evidence the court cannot escape the conclusion that the respondent's anger and belief in the relator's 'disloyalty' and 'insubordination' together with the request, which amount to an order, by the governor, who was respondent's superior officer to abolish relator's position, was not only the primary motive as conceded, but was the sole controlling motive which activated the respondent in abolishing the position."

Pope Attends Religious Exercises as Health Holds Up.

VATICAN CITY—(AP)—Pope Pius, after a quiet night, twice attended religious exercises lasting 30 minutes each this morning.

Vatican sources said the audience the pontiff gave to pilgrims on Sunday and a resumption of nearly normal activities since then appeared not to have had any bad reaction on his delicate health.

PACIFIC WAVES DASH AIRLINER AGAINST ROCKS

FOUGHT FIERCE GALE

Craft Forced to Land After Battle With Wind Leaves Gas Tanks Empty.

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—A luxury airliner was smashed to pieces on a rocky ocean beach near here today after it had fought an 84-mile-an-hour wind en route from Seattle to Oakland, and finally was forced down on the rough sea when its fuel tanks ran dry.

Coast guard headquarters here reported Pilot Charles Stead and Isadore R. Edelstein of Los Angeles, a passenger, were rescued and that three other passengers and two crew members were missing.

Smashed Against Rocks.

Huge waves smashed the United Airlines 14-passenger 'Sky Lounge' against the rocky shore at the foot of a precipice.

The coast guard report said the pilot and Edelstein were taken up a steep cliff by ropes, and Stead "passed out" from injuries.

A report from O. C. Richerson, assistant superintendent of the UAL's western division here, varied from this report. Richerson said he was informed Stead "was OK, and walking around on the beach, but Edelstein was badly hurt."

Pilot Stead of Seattle radioed about 2:30 a. m. that he was in trouble, but still knew where he was because the radio beam was functioning to guide him to Oakland.

He said, however, he had only 20 gallons of gasoline left, enough for five minutes' flight, and would alight on the ocean with "wheels up," or in retracted position to insure as much safety as possible.

List of Passengers.

Passengers aboard the twin-engined plane were: H. L. Shonts of San Jose, Cal.; J. B. Hefelbower of San Francisco; Philip Hart of Portland, Ore.; Isadore R. Edelstein of Los Angeles.

The co-pilot was Lloyd Jones of Seattle, and the stewardess was Frona "Bobbie" Clay of Alameda, Cal.

H. J. Tsleghaar, Point Reyes lighthouse keeper, said the waves bore the big plane onto the rocky beach and smashed it to pieces.

The wreckage was wedged among rocks at the base of a cliff which towered nearly 700 feet.

COLD LETS UP

Mercury Hits 40, But It's Due to Drop Tomorrow.

Mansfield enjoyed a brief respite from the severe cold today, but more frigid weather is due tonight and Wednesday, the weatherman said.

The forecast is for fair and colder, but there was no indication that the mercury would drop as far as it did last week.

The temperature at noon today climbed to 40 degrees, highest reading in the past week, and the warm sun melted a part of the ice coating from streets and highways. The lowest temperature last night was 20 degrees.

Mother Convicted For Scorning Aid For Dying Boy, 9

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A mother who withheld medical care for her dying child was convicted today of manslaughter.

But a debonaire young minister who advised her to rely upon a "divine cure" while he serenaded the child with guitar accompaniment was acquitted.

Superior Judge A. A. Scott called him a "religious racketeer."

Scott freed Mrs. Lillian Volstad without bond and set her probation hearing for Dec. 20. He found her guilty, without a jury, of refusing to let doctors treat her son, Francis, 9, until too late to save him of a ruptured appendix. The boy died after a court order forced his transfer to a hospital.

Mrs. Volstad wept in the seclusion of her home. She is subject to one to 10 years' imprisonment on the manslaughter conviction.

Her minister, Rev. Wilbur Alvis, replied heatedly that "religious prejudice was behind this whole thing, no doubt about it."

Dreams Put Aside

KOKOMO, Ind. —(AP)— Boys and girls who may have dreamed of the school burning down didn't let it happen when the test came.

When the Darraugh Chapel Consolidated school caught fire, pupils formed a bucket brigade and kept the blaze under control until firemen arrived and saved the building. The damage was $3,000.

EVATT NAMED

Bricker Appoints Director of Finance for New Cabinet.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—William S. Evatt, chief counsel in the attorney general's office, today was appointed finance director in the cabinet of Governor-elect John W. Bricker.

Evatt, formerly of Cincinnati and now living in Worthington, a Columbus suburb, formerly served as chief counsel when Bricker was attorney general. He was the only Republican retained when Democratic Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy was elected two years ago.

Muny Purse Nearly Empty, Payless City Payday Seen

Auditor Seeks Advance Draft on Personal Taxes to Meet Payroll, Blames Drop In Sales Tax.

The city of Mansfield is going to have to squeeze the municipal purse to meet its payrolls for the balance of the year, and there's a possibility that some employes may have one payless payday before the first of January.

This situation was disclosed today by City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, who said he had asked County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe for an advance draft on the current personal tax collection, which will not close until late next month, to avoid such a situation.

Kelley said the chief reason the city finds itself in such financial straits is the drop in sales tax revenues. Sales tax receipts are $20,000 behind those of 1937, he said, a situation that could not have been predicted when the city set up its 1938 appropriations the first of the year.

Warns Department Heads.

So serious was the condition of the city finances that Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist today notified all department heads in a letter that all expenditures for the balance of the year were to be "limited to the bare necessities."

In the letter in which he listed each department's balances, Nist cautioned that purchases were not to be made unless there was "suf-

STRIKES AGAIN

New Attack Spurs Search for England's 'Phantom Slasher.'

HALIFAX, Eng. — (AP) — A stealthy slasher struck in another north England town today as Scotland Yard was at work in panicky Halifax seeking a man who has terrified the town with 13 cutting attacks, mostly on women.

Winifred Walsh, 18, of Platt Bridge, Lancashire, told police a man seized her in the backyard of her home and inflicted a five-inch wound on her arm.

Her assailant's technique apparently was the same as the Halifax phantom's.

Detectives joined with 5,000 town volunteers, who armed themselves with pokers, heavy sticks and Indian clubs for poking into likely hiding places during the night.

MAILS TAX BILLS FOR FIRST TIME

Treasurer to Send Statements to Property Owners as Result of New Law.

Richland county property owners will receive statements for their real estate taxes for the first time next month, County Treasurer John E. Kolb said today.

A new state law provides that the treasurer mail bills to each taxpayer preceding the payment period which opens in January, indicating the amount of tax due in the first half year collection.

Kolb said his office did not have the addresses of a number of property owners and it would be necessary for them to notify his office of their addresses if statements are to be mailed to them.

He pointed out that the statement plan would enable property holders to mail a check for their taxes without calling at the courthouse and probably will eliminate confusion in the handling of the payments.

In the past, statements have been mailed only for personal taxes. The exact number of real estate taxpayers in the county was not available, but the treasurer said there are more than 33,000 parcels of property on which taxes are paid.

Americans Raise $2,000,000 for German Refugees.

NEW YORK—(AP)—In one of the most remarkable responses ever made to appeals for the aid of a people in need, American Christians and Jews in a little more than two weeks have showered at least two million dollars on agencies for relief of German refugees.

This estimate was made today by responsible officials of various drives on the basis of results in leading cities. The bulk of the donations have gone to the American joint distribution committee, which has a record of 20 years experience in Jewish relief activities in Europe. It also is the chief contributor to the national co-ordinating committee for aid of German refugees, an affiliation of 24 Jewish, Catholic and Protestant relief organizations.

Contributions began pouring in a few days after the Nov. 10 raids on Jewish shops in Germany.

Roosevelt Statement Expected Today On Nazi, Italian Affairs

(By United Press)

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. — President Roosevelt's intimates believed today that he might comment on affairs in Germany and Italy at his press conference late this afternoon.

The occasion would be opportune, since he has conferred twice in the past two days with Hugh R. Wilson, ambassador to Germany, and William Phillips, Ambassador to Italy. White House attaches said that Mr. Roosevelt had explored the broad phases of anti-Semitism in both countries with the ambassadors, as well as the plight of Catholics and Protestants in Germany.

Neither of the ambassadors would comment on their talks with Mr. Roosevelt and for that reason, it was believed that he would at least clarify the United States' attitude in the light of the ambassadors' reports in talking with the newspapermen.

Phillips said he would return to Rome Dec. 10 or 15, indicating that Mr. Roosevelt had no drastic protest in mind against anti-Semitism in Italy. Wilson, however, has been assigned to duty in the state department in Washington and he could not say when, if ever, he would return to Germany.

It was reported on good authority that Mr. Roosevelt planned to promote Dr. Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, to surgeon general of the navy with the title of rear admiral, to succeed Rear Admiral P. S. Foster. Dr. McIntire presently is a captain in the navy medical corps.

Status of Copper Settled, He Starts Work Under Bates

Harry Copper, former city patrolman, with his status as assistant county probation officer cleared up, started to work today under the supervision of Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

Copper reported for duty to the chief this morning following a meeting with Bates and Mayor Claude M. Hunter yesterday afternoon.

Hunter said today that arrangements had been worked out whereby Copper was to assist the city police in checking on numerous unsolved juvenile cases which the department had on file.

He said that the city was not assuming any of the responsibility for the county officer, appointed for a two-month period by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, but was willing to cooperate with the court to the "fullest extent."

On recommendation from Judge Anderson yesterday Copper provided $1,000 surety bond to protect the 10 persons who had contributed to his salary. The bond is similar to that posted by other county juvenile officers.

Copper, after an absence of eight months from the police department from which he resigned, was assigned to several minor thefts committed within the past few weeks, as he began his new duties.

Copper created the position as county officer for himself by lining up 10 persons who agreed to contribute $10 a month for two months to pay his salary in the temporary job.

Sound Movies of Major Games On Grid Banquet Program Again

Sound motion pictures of football games again will be a part of The News-Journal football banquet to be staged in honor of the Mansfield high school squad at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Tuesday, Dec. 6.

It was decided to show a new release of football films this year because of the success of the experiment at the last dinner.

Harry DeLaney, Ohio theater projectionist, will again show the pictures.

Included in the films are scenes from most of the major football games this fall, as well as many of the important scoring plays.

Another film to be presented will be built around Howard Jones, famous Southern California coach. A cartoon also is on the bill.

These films will boster one of the finest speaking program ever presented at The News-Journal banquet. The speaking list is, headed by Don Peden, noted Ohio university coach.

Tickets for the affair are on sale at the business office of The News-Journal, Tawse pharmacy, Bates' candy shop and Senior high school. Tickets prices are the same as last year, $1.55 per person, tax included.

Roosevelt Urges Philippine Economic Tie Until '60

PLAN SEEN AS REPLY TO BOLD CLAIM OF JAPS

President Prepares to Submit Program to Congress; Quezon Proposal Rejected.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt was prepared today to recommend to congress that the United States retain an economic stake in the Philippines until 1960, although independence will be granted the island commonwealth on July 4, 1946.

The administration's decision was regarded as of signal importance in view of Japan's recent bold claim to domination of an "Asia for the Asiatics."

It was further revealed the United States has no intention of relinquishing its hold on its far eastern possessions until the last minute. President Manuel Quezon had urged that independence be granted as early as this year, or in 1939.

Opposes Proposal.

But the joint American-Philippine committee which has been studying for more than a year the question of servering ties with the Philippines today flatly recommended against the Quezon proposal.

The committee, whose report has the approval of President Roosevelt, concluded "that an advancement of the date of independence would materially increase the difficulties of the Philippine adjustment problem."

The independence act, in which sweeping changes are suggested to permit long-term economic readjustments, sets the date of independence at July 4, 1946.

There were even indications in congressional circles, in view of Japan's aggressive attitude in the Far East, that efforts may be made in the coming congress to defer the granting of freedom to the islands.

Any such move, however, would be contrary to the administration program.

America's armed forces, land, air and naval, will be kept in the Philippines until independence becomes a fact, it was learned.

JAPS REJECT AGAIN

SHANGHAI — (U.P.) — Japan formally refused today to reopen the Yangtse river to commercial navigation, as demanded by the United States, Britain, France and Italy.

Admiral Koshiro Oikawa, Japanese naval commander-in-chief in China, delivered a memorandum to that effect to the naval commanders of the four powers.

A communique summarizing the memorandum concluded by saying:

"We shall be compelled to stick to our decision as long as the Chinese forces maintain their present attitude."

Duke, Duchess To Spend Winter In France, Paris Told

PARIS — (U.P.) — The Duke of Windsor and his American-born duchess were said by members of the duke's entourage today to be planning to spend a real "southern Christmas" on the French Riviera.

There is no question, these friends indicated, of their spending the holidays in England and definite plans have been made for the opening of their chateau, De La Croe, at Cap D'Antibes the week before Christmas.

According to present plans it will be a "family" Christmas with perhaps a few old friends invited to stay with them in what English friends of the duke describe as the "American holiday spirit."

Current reports in Paris and London that the ducal couple would return to England in the near future were denied by informed sources close to the Windsors.

These sources added, however, that this had no bearing on the increasingly friendly relations between the former king and other members of the British royal family.

'Night Riders' Break Up Pro-Nazi Rally

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfielders down around the Pennsylvania passenger depot on North Diamond street last night had a chance to look over one of the new streamlined trains which made its first official stop in the city. It was the Pennsylvania's east bound "General," en route to New York City. The train stopped here to pick up 16 officials of the Westminister Tire corporation of New York, who had spent the day at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. The stop had been arranged for previously in New York.

Adults as well as children are mystified by the Kute Kris Kringle which is being exhibited on the mezzanine floor of the Madison theater. In a little snow-covered gabled cottage is a real live Kris Kringle only three inches high. He is surrounded by toys and on the table is a telephone so tiny that it is difficult to see. But children—and a lot of adults—are bewildered when they call up Santa's number on the toy telephone outside the cottage and looking through the window see him pick up the receiver and hear his voice distinctly answer their questions. It isn't a robot nor a puppet, but a real human being. The tiny fellow will be at the Madison through December.

A Shorthorn senior yearling bull, owned by Maxwalton farms, near Mansfield, won second place in his classification yesterday at the International Livestock exposition in Chicago.

Maxwalton farms, which have exhibited at the exposition for several years, have 10 entries in the 1938 show. They have never failed to win at least one ribbon. The animals are owned by E. R. Hartman and Wallace Campbell, who operate Maxwalton farms, southeast of the city.

Six other winners in yesterday's judging are owned by Ohio State university and other stock farms in the state.

C. B. Teegardin of Ashville, O., won first and second place ribbons with Polled Shorthorn yearling bull entries.

CHICAGO HUNTS BANDIT, WIFE

Wounded Gunman, Mate Elude Pursuit in 3 States; 3 Hostages Freed.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—Federal agents and the entire city police force joined in a hunt throughout Chicago today for a wounded gunman and his wife who kidnaped three persons and eluded pursuit across three states yesterday.

Hospitals and doctors were furnished descriptions of the couple and were warned to be on the lookout for any suspicious characters seeking treatment.

It was believed the woman had suffered a minor wound in the brush with Michigan police in which the man was wounded in the head.

The pair was believed to be Benny Dickson, Topeka, Kas., desperado and his wife Estelle, wanted for questioning about a $17,000 bank robbery in Brookings, S. D.

They had escaped a police trap in a tourist camp near Topeka on Thanksgiving day and had been hunted since throughout the middle west by G-men and state police.

A warning to Michigan officers that they might seek hiding there resulted early yesterday in their being challenged by a patrol car near Mottville.

The pair answered with gun fire and disabled the police car. Three hours later they appeared in Vicksburg, Mich., north of Mottville. Both were bleeding from head wounds, the woman apparently suffering only from a nick in the ear.

They kidnaped Henry Matty, a farmer, in his car and also took Claude Mennis, a filling station attendant. They next appeared near South Bend where they stopped Louis H. Karr and switched automobiles. They later released their hostages.

ASSERTS CHURCH FACES BIGGEST JOB IN REACHING YOUTH TODAY

"With Communism, Socialism and Naziism invading America, the church has never had a bigger job than now, and if the nation is saved we must reach boys and girls with Christian training," Dr. P. H. Welsheimer, Canton religious leader, said last night at the Mansfield Sunday school workers' fellowship dinner.

He spoke before about 200 of the city's Sunday school superintendents, teachers and members at the annual dinner meeting in the First M. E. church.

Emphasizing the importance of Bible training for young people, Dr. Welsheimer, head of the largest Sunday school in the nation at the First Christian church, Canton, said "the church must become interested in and seek the 17,000,000 boys and girls who are receiving no religious training of any kind."

The majority of adults who are won by the church in later life have had some Sunday school training when they were young, he said.

"We must interest the younger people," he asserted, "for it is hard to change the thinking and living habits of adults after they are past 35 years old."

He explained that his huge Sunday school and church at Canton were built by "hard work, common sense, and simple methods." Sunday school teachers must know the Bible and believe in it and their lives must tally with their teachings, he said.

"We need older men and women as Sunday school teachers because they usually know the Scriptures better," he added.

Frowning on the term "religious education," Dr. Welsheimer said "there is much being taught under that title that is neither religion nor education." He advised against an attempt "to mix business, politics and professions with Sunday school teaching."

Dr. Welsheimer has been pastor of the First Christian church at Canton for 37 years and holds a life pastorate with the church. His church has a membership of 5,666, and the Sunday school, which he heads, has an enrollment of more than 6,000.

The Jonathan glee club, directed by Albert Arnold, provided music for the program which was in charge of L. J. Cashell, president of the Mansfield Sunday School Superintendents' association.

OPEN SEASON

Community Players Begin 12th Year Tonight With Comedy.

The Mansfield Community Players open their 12th season tonight at Senior High school auditorium with the presentation of Robert Sherwood's costume comedy, "The Queen's Husband."

This will be the first costume play since "Wappin Wharf" a number of years ago. The locale is a mythical kingdom on an island in the North Sea. The major characters are the queen, her consort, her daughter and the king's secretary.

The last minute illness of a major player has made it necessary for Mrs. Helen Bacon, director of the Players, to don grease paint and the queen's robes and appear as Queen Martha, a role that has been rehearsed by Mrs. Joseph Montgomery.

With only two days in which to learn the lines, remember her own directions and find a costume, Mrs. Bacon will step into this important role tonight, her first since she began directing the Players five years ago.

SILVER SHIRTS ROUTED, 1,000 INVADE MEETING

Raiders Push Through Locked Doors of Hall; Four Injured During Melee.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—An anonymous band of 1,000 anti-Nazi nightriders were believed responsible today for the concerted attack on a meeting of the Silver Shirt legion last night in which four persons were injured.

Among those beaten was Roy Zachary of Snogualmie, Wash., described as the field marshal of the uniformed organization.

The assault was the fourth staged within recent weeks upon gatherings of the Silver Shirts or the German-American bund, both of which are pro-Nazi in principle.

All are said to have been engineered by the same under-cover group drawn together into a loose organization by a common hatred of Nazi tenets in general and anti-semitism in particular.

Nine Arrested.

Nine in the attacking mob were arrested and held on open charges for further questioning.

Reports of the number taking part in last night's riot varied. Some witnesses said that as many as 500 encircled the meeting hall before the assault was launched on a prearranged signal.

The force arrived stealthily in automobiles at two or three minute intervals to allay suspicion. They were said to be armed with clubs, bricks and lengths of hose.

In the midst of Zachary's speech, the locked doors of the hall were burst open and the guards thrust aside. The mob poured in from both back and front entrances simultaneously.

Nearby residents, frightened by the noise of the ensuing melee, summoned police but the two squads that answered the alarm were insufficient and more than 100 reserves were called, before the fighting was stopped.

Although Zachary and two other members escaped with minor injuries and were released from the hospital after treatment, Clarence Sutherland, whose wife said had attended the meeting out of curiosity and was not a Silver Shirt member was in a critical condition from a fractured skull.

GIRL, 16, JAILED

Faces Court With Mother and Man in Delinquency Charge.

A 16-year-old Mansfield girl was held in the county jail today on a delinquent charge filed by her mother, while Tom Murphy, 32, of 337 Springmill street, who had been accused of contributing to the girl's delinquency, was released to return to his work.

Arrested Sunday on a charge filed by the girl's mother, Murphy presented evidence to Judge C. J. Anderson in juvenile court yesterday that resulted in the arrest of the girl.

At the county detention home, she created a disturbance and attempted to escape, so deputy sheriffs removed her to the county jail.

Murphy, the girl and her mother were to be brought before Judge Anderson this afternoon.

Court records show that the girl was married in 1937 and that her husband is serving a term in the Ohio penitentiary.

New York Native Terms City Is Well-Mannered, Not Living in Retrospect

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A few weeks ago these dispatches raised a faint, impatient yip against the homeward yearning of many Americans who come to New York, prosper here, enjoy the life of the metropolis and raise families in New York but never permit themselves to become New Yorkers and nevertheless complain of the non-assimilation of foreigners.

The chief offender was the late O. O. McIntyre with his dozens of bathrobes and his racks of expensive suits in a Park avenue apartment, who was always picking out on his typewriter the notes of "how dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood' but didn't go back to Gallipolis until he died and would have pined away for the sights and sounds and luxuries of New York had he ever made the break.

With Mr. McIntyre, of course, it was an act. Like some of the old-time vaudeville men, he hit upon something which pleased his audience and never saw any reason to experiment with new material. However, he spoke for thousands of others who have settled here and done much better than they would have done back home but will never tie loose from Jones' Corners or Hickory Center in the spiritual sense and speak of their old home grounds only to disparage New York.

* * *

Had I known that A. J. Liebling was writing a book on this subject from the standpoint of a New Yorker I might have left the protest entirely to him, for he has done it much better in a work called "Back Where I Came From," which I recommend to all members of the Indiana society, the Minnesota society and of all the other American Sudeten groups, including the Siwash alumni.

I am not a native New Yorker but I long ago realized that the tradition of heartlessness was false, and, perhaps a little against my will, became thoroughly naturalized, so to speak, forswearing my previous devotion to other parts.

Mr. Liebling, however, is a native who says in his opening chapter, "Apology for Breathing," "I have no place to go back to. Friends tell me of their excitement when the train passes from Indiana into Illinois or back again. I am ashamed to admit that when the Jerome avenue express rolls into the 86th street station, I have absolutely no reaction."

Mr. Liebling sees New York as one of the oldest American places which does not live in restrospect 'like the professionally American provinces," but keeps on renewing itself so that the past is perennially forgotten.

"Native New Yorkers," he writes, "are the best mannered people in America; they never speak out of turn in saloons because they have experience in group etiquette. Whenever you hear a drinker let a blat out of him you can be sure he is a recent immigrant from the south or middle west." He observes that New Yorkers are modest, whereas prairie geniuses "raced in cheap company when young," feel themselves to be boy wonders and resent it "when they bounce off New York's skin as adults."

* * *

When I was a cub around here I was impressed by the generous helpfulness of the older reporters on the mass assignments. On ship news, the regulars on the run, men who knew the tricks and mysteries of combing a big ship arriving or sailing would go over a boat themselves, gather everything worth knowing and then sit down at a table to trade material. I was not only bashful but ashamed to come to these conferences empty handed, but any newcomer was always welcome whether or not he had anything of his own to contribute, and Ross Whytock, one of the stars of those exacting days when the harbor was a very important point of international news, several times single me out for no reason except that he was kind and I was plainly dazed, to make certain that I had missed nothing.

On several sport assignments Tom Thorp, a native New Yorker, did the same, and this active charity by self-assured stars who knew their way around was the more impressive because back where I came from, that land of the stronger hand-clasp and the clearer eye, reporters would not only scoop one another for the delight of scoring a petty advantage at the desk but would even give false information to a greenhorn for no other reason, apparently than the pleasure it gave them to get him canned.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Fee, fie, fo, fum. . . . There's blood in the air. More blood than there was a few weeks ago, and that was enough. In the air of "Dodge City"—as Dodge City was in 1872—there would have to be blood. Dodge City, Kans., in those frontier days was no place for shy and sensitive souls to live.

Some realization of this must have gone into the script. There were some real nice shootin's. John Litel, playing a small-time cattle operator rash enought to challenge Boss Surrett (Bruce Cabot) in Surrett's own bar, was going to get plugged by Surrett's henchman Yancey (Victor Jory). Russell Simpson, as a cattle-buyer, was to be zinged by Ward Bond, as one of Surrett's gang. Jory was going to "get" Frank McHugh, who plays the country editor who fights, in print, for law and order. Tim Holt (as Olivia de Haviland's brother) was going to be killed, by accident, by hero Errol Flynn. And there was going to be plenty of other shooting besides.

But there've been some changes. Story conferences with Robert Buckner, the scenarist, Robert Lord, the associate producer, Michael Curtiz, the director, and others taking part.

Curtiz is a cinematic blood-lover. He is of the "stark" school of direction. Realism, action, force. He wants things done up brown—reddish brown. Fire and gun-fire. With Mike sitting in on the story conferences, there were some changes made.

* * *

SOME of these may not have been Mike's ideas—entirely—but the climax was. That's when Flynn and his pal, Alan Hale, together with Olivia, will be trapped inside a flaming early-type Santa Fe train. The villains who besieged them there, and knocked down the kerosene lamp, will get theirs when the trio escape—at the last minute, of course.

Other changes:

Jory still shoots McHugh in the back, but before this there is a scene in which Jory horsewhips the poor editor.

Tim Holt's death, previously comparatively peaceful by gunshot, now comes more spectacularly—and you might say uncomfortably—with the lad getting trampled under the hoofs of stampeding cattle.

* * *

THERE'S a lynching party for Alan Hale—with Flynn rescuing his partner at the moment of his most acute throat trouble.

There's another deft bit of carnage in the planned demise of Bobs Watson, the boy actor, who will be dragged to his end by a team of horses stampeded by the barking guns of the Cabot-Jory gang.

If these be signs and portents, "Dodge City" will out-shoot, out-drag, out-horsewhip, out-stampede and out-burn several other current westerns put together—and Director Curtiz, an enthusiastic gent, will be in glory.

So far, happily, the others concerned have kept it a secret that, at the time of the story, there were still scalp-collecting Indians in the vicinity of Dodge City. But Mike can read, and there is yet time. . . . Fee, fi, fo, fum!

Nine Ohio Teams Unbeaten

Madison Wins Scoring Title

Harmon Leads Individuals

ALTHOUGH the Tygers failed to fare as well as usual on the gridiron this fall, Madison helped keep Mansfield in the Ohio scholastic football spotlight.

Final records of the season compiled by Fritz Howell of the Associated Press show that the Rams won the state team scoring record with 320 points, 18 more than the undefeated Massillon club, and owned the state's individual scoring champion in Gene Harmon, who collected 146 points.

The individual scoring scrap was in virtually as much of a jumble as the team race. Carl Grate of Greenfield McClain was second with 145 points, and Hillis Hume of Alliance finished third with 144, after a two-touchdown splurge which beat Salem, 13 to 0, on Turkey Day. Dick Huston of Toledo Libbey took fourth place with 126, five ahead of Bryan's Jack Brace.

The scoring championships are definitely settled, but there was plenty of material for a winter-long argument as to which team had the No. 1 claim for the state mythical championship.

Of course, Mansfield would vote for Massillon for the honor, but there were eight other teams which wound up their campaigns without a blemish. Five won 10 games in a row, the same as Massillon, two took seven and another turned in a five-tilt schedule into a grand slam.

Last week Massillon's Tigers, claimants of the state crown for the last three seasons, held the perch all alone with 10 straight, but five others moved into the king row in the Thanksgiving day week-end melees.

Knotted with Massillon are Fostoria, which beat Findlay 13 to 0; Cleveland Cathedral Latin, 7-0 winner over West Tech before the year's record crowd of 55,000; Adena, 12-0 victory over Dillonvale; Portsmouth, 12-6 winner over Huntington, W. Va.; and Van Wert, which beat Montpelier 21 to 0 over the week-end.

* * * * *

Cathedral Latin Runs Streak to 17 Games.

CATHEDRAL LATIN, in scoring the first points of the year against West Tech, and handing that team its first defeat, stretched its two-year winning streak to 17. Fostoria reached 16 in a row, Adena 19 and Portsmouth 16 since tasting the pangs of defeat, but Massillon topped them all by staying out of the "lost" column for the last four years.

Along with the unbeaten-untied teams, seven others staved off defeat for a year but were tangled up in deadlocks. Shelby, Sandusky and Wooster won eight and tied one; Galion, Forest and Cincinnati Roger Bason won seven and tied one, while Dayton Oakwood was deadlocked twice in nine starts.

Of the sterling sextet tied at 10 in a row, Massillon's well-balanced crew had the best offensive mark with 302 points but also had the poorest defensive record, allowing an average of one touchdown per game. Van Wert, in allowing but one touchdown, had the top defensive record.

Adena, a class B school near Steubenville, played a 6-6 tie with Steubenville Central Catholic in this year's opener, but was awarded the victory by a 1 to 0 count because the foe used an ineligible player, thus keeping the long winning streak intact.

As Portsmouth wound up with 10 straight, Coach Paul Jenkins notched his sixth unbeaten champaign in 11 years of high school coaching. His record over the stretch, after graduating from the University of Kentucky in 1927, shows 99 victories, 11 defeats and two ties. In his first four years, at Ashland, Ky., Jenkins' teams won 41 and tied one. They lost two in his fifth season, but hopped back to take 10 straight the following year. This year's squad was his first unbeaten contingent at Portsmouth, last year's team losing to Huntington, W. Va.

Only two teams fell out of the select class in the abbreviated holiday firing, and both had been tied previously. Cleveland West Tech's loss to Cathedral Latin, with Capt. Fenton's 63-year touchdown turning the trick, was the first for that team, while Piqua bowled over Troy, 6 to 0, on a snow-covered field for the first Trojan setback.

Toledo Libbey snagged the Maumee city laurels with a 20 to 7 win over Devilbiss, Waite knocking Scott out of a tie by 7 to 6. In other games involving leading teams Cleveland Rhodes was tied by Lakewood, 7 to 7; Jackson tied Wellston 0 to 0; Bellaire beat Wheeling, W. Va., 15 to 0, for its ninth in 10 starts; Dayton Oakwood beat Fairmont 13 to 0 to retain its unbeaten status; and Sandusky won its eighth in nine attempts over Fremont, 28 to 6.

* * * * *

Two Teams to Settle Bids Early In 1939.

TWO of this year's leaders may settle part of the title scrap early next year, for Massillon and Cleveland Cathedral Latin crash into each other in the opener.

With 1938 football out of the way, the basketball players are now taking charge. Centerburg and Bladenburg offered the first forecast of what may be expected, Centerburg celebrating Thanksgiving day by walloping its neighbor 149 to 2, which is hereby designated the season's one-game offensive and defensive record until other outlying precincts are heard from.

Duke to Oppose Trojans In Rose Bowl

By ROBERT MYERS

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—It's Duke, the rock of the Southern Conference, and southern California, survivor of a bitter grid campaign along the Pacific, in the Rose Bowl battle Jan. 2.

Concluding in six hours negotiations that usually take a week or more, southern California last night invited the Blue Devils of Durham, N. C., to play its Trojan warriors in Pasadena's annual post-season game, and Duke lost no time accepting.

There is joy in the hills of North Carolina today, for never before in the 22-year-old history of the far west classic has one of its teams played in the rose-bordered bowl.

But just as there is celebrating in North Carolina, so is there gloom in bluebonnet state of Texas and a wail for every rebel yell echoing over the rolling countryside of Tennessee, for Texas and Tennessee had unbeaten, untied Rose Bowl candidates, too, in Texas Christian and the University of Tennessee.

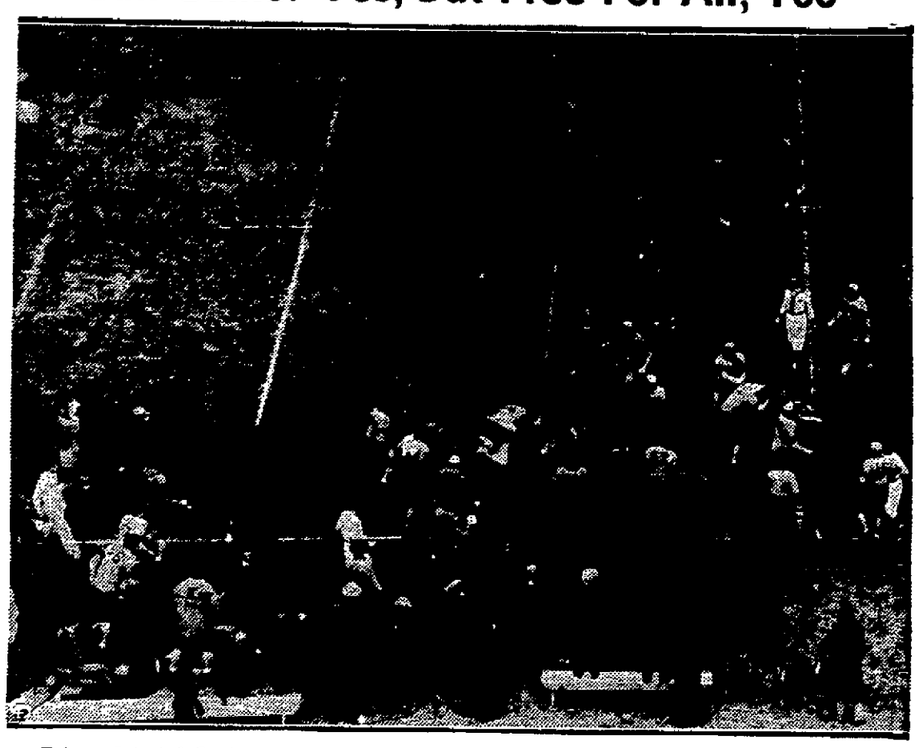
Sentiment was high here in favor of Little Davey O'Brien and his T. C. U. horned frog mates; Tennessee had a growing delegation of hopeful backers, and disappointment was keen within the two factions when Duke's Iron Dukes came up with a rush over the week-end and won the invitation.

Duke's supporters in southern California were legion, however, and no one could criticise its 1938 team or its record of nine straight victories with never a touchdown, never a point, surrendered.

Southern California drew a tough assignment in Duke, the team that tossed back the challenge of Pitt, Colgate, Syracuse and other strong elevens of that caliber, and in addition to a team coached by a man, Wallace Wade, who brought three Alabama teams to Pasedena and left with two victories and one tie for a near-perfect record.

Against this is the Trojan record of never having been defeated or tied in four Rose Bowl games, three of which saw Howard H. Jones, who spent a year coaching Duke in 1924 before coming out here, at the helm of S. C. grid forces.

Football Game? Yes, But Free-For-All, Too



Tulane defeated Louisiana State university on the gridiron at New Orleans in one of the outstanding games in the south, but more important to many fans was the free-for-all fight which climaxed the game. The players started it after a slugging penalty. Coaches, fans and attendants joined in, as shown above. Goal posts were uprooted, too, but when it was all over rival players shook hands and made apologies. The fans didn't, however. The score was Tulane, 14; L. S. U., 0.

Amputation of Leg Ends Monty's Diamond Career.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The brilliant baseball career of Monty Stratton, 26-year-old pitching star of the Chicago White Sox, was at an end today, cut short by the amputation of his right leg at the knee.

The operation to check spread of gangerene which threatened Stratton's life was performed by surgeons at Dallas, Tex., hospital yesterday after he had accidentally shot himself while hunting rabbits on his mother's farm at Greenville, Tex.

Plan For Lid Lifters at Y

Team Pilots Urged to Attend Meeting Wednesday.

Final plans for the opening of the Y. M. C. A. Church basketball leagues will be made at a meeting of team representatives at the Y at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, Francis Brown, president of the Church Athletic association, announced today.

Wednesday will also mark the deadline for entries of teams, Brown said, and he stated that it is important that all teams be represented. He also urges teams to file their entry fees Wednesday.

Under no circumstances will the deadline for entries be extended this year because the schedules must be completed this week, Brown said. The schedules in the three leagues will be lifted next week.

The B league is scheduled to open Tuesday, Dec. 6, with the A circuit opening the following night.

Three Games Billed

Rex Billiards, Defending Champs, Meet Musille Quint in Feature Game.

THE first Mansfield basketball circuit to start operations this season will be the Friendly House Class A league, which lifts the lid Thursday night.

Headlining the opening night's program is a tussle between the Rex Billiards, 1937-38 champions, and Musille Cigars. This tilt features a three-game program, which opens at 6:45 p. m.

Lift Opening Bill.

The first game will pit the Miller Dairys against the Blue Goose Sohioans and the middle contest sends the Raemelton Farm against the Augustine Service station.

Mike Wentz, supervisor of athletic events at the settlement, said today that the defending championship team is virtually intact from last winter.

The Billiards' lineup again includes Howard Patterson, an all-county man at Ontario high for several years; Howard Richards, Tony Brucato, Legs Brubach and Lawrence Smith.

Bob Boyd and Bob Hoffman, Church league stars of last season, and Jimmy Augustine will form the nucleus of the Musille quintet.

The Raemelton club will include Gaubatz, Rudrick and Zacharias, while the Augustine quintet has signed Tuffy Treisch, Jimmy Fullager, Tony Augustine, Shaefer and Slug Bohland.

Play With Dairys.

The Miller Dairy club is built around Jim Heiser, former Mansfield high star, and Bill Moritz, late of Madison. Both are over six feet. Former Madison performers, including the Lockhart brothers, Kenny and Willard; Hoffman, Wagenhals and Desterhaft, will make up the Blue Goose team.

PITTSBURGH — (U.P.) — Billy Conn, fast-riding young Pittsburgh middleweight, appealed today for a championship match with Solly Krieger, National Boxing association champion whom he defeated last night in a non-title scrap.

The black-haired Conn easily outboxed the Brooklyn butcher in their 12-round bout before 6,000 fans in Duquesne Garden. It avenged a 10-round defeat administered by Krieger last December.

Grade School League Opens

Brinkerhoff Blanks Foe, 19-0, in Inaugural.

The Grade School basketball league got underway at Senior high school yesterday with Brinkerhoff, Bushnell, West Fifth, Bowman and Hedges accounting for the victories.

Brinkerhoff showed great defensive skill as it blanked Newman, 19 to 0, with Beckel leading the scoring with a dozen points. Brooks led Bushnell to a 17 to 4 triumph over Carpenter.

West Fifth edged Western, 7 to 6, in one of the closest games on the opening program, and Bowman won over Woodland, 9 to 8, by rallying in the final period. Hedges halted Prospect in the other game.

Pete Grohol, Legion, Leads Club League Scoring With 652 Total

Commercial Managers Regain Lead In Handicap Circuit; Liederkranz Upsets 2808 Sticks.

PETE GROHOL, who, apparently, is enjoying one of his best years on the lanes, continued his spectacular bowling last night as he wrecked the uprights for a 652 count to lead the individual scoring in the Club Handicap league at the Meder alleys.

The American Legion star accounted for games of 235, 202 and 215, but his team's 2863 was not enough to overcome a good-sized handicap in the match with the Tracy & Avery club, and, consequently, dropped two games.

The Liederkranz club annexed team scoring honors with 2808 pins, but it, too, lost two games to the Baku Grotto. The Liederkranz's only win was manufactured with an opening 1022 score.

The defeat of the Legion and Liederkranz clubs enabled the Commercial Managers, who won three from the Page Dairys, to pass them in the torrid race. The Managers were led by Frick's 599.

The Mansfield Savings Bank rolled a 2722 total, but dropped two games to the J. A. C. keglers. The Schoolmasters took two games from the Kiwanis club and the Mansfield Athletic club, paced by Pete Linster's 594, won a pair from the Optimists in the other matches.

Dunn's 600 Helps Barbers Keep Lead.

Jim Dunn wrapped up a high even 600 as Oscar Walters' Barbers took three games from The News-Journal entry last night to hold on to first place in the Commercial C league.

Gimbel's Confectioners remained a game behind by sweeping their series with the Goodrich Silvertowns. Charley Gimbel rolled a 582, finishing with 216 and 232.

Jim Wallace closed with a 156 to lose a chance to reach the 600 figures after opening with a 208 and 222, and his Druschel Drugs lost two games to the Jackson Potato Chips.

Lamb's Lincos won team scoring honors with a 2534, which was good for a sweep over the Levering Dairys. Campbell led the Lincos with a 585. Frost shot a 561 to lead the Shaw Jewelers to three wins over the New Method Laundry. The Hecht & Casey Coals added two wins at the expense of the Art Rattan Works.

Signs Rattan For Vangler

Nolan Completes Second Bout for Friday.

Sammy Vangler, of Wheeling, W. Va., will oppose "Silent" Rattan of Indianapolis in one of two featured wrestling attractions at the Armory Friday night. The contest will share top billing with the clash between the Great Mephisto and Whitey Wahlberg, of Duluth, Minn.

Born in Manchuria, Vangler is now an American citizen. He has proven himself one of the cleverest matmen in the business, but is unfortunately too small to entertain title ambitions among the world's light-heavyweights. He has scored victories, however, over some of the toughest competition in the section, many of his rivals outweighing him by as much as 40 pounds.

Rattan is a deaf mute, but his action on the mat is a language of its own. Like Vangler, he also is small. This fact should make the match one of the finest on the docket and it is sure to be hotly contested.

CARNEGIE TEAM WEIGHS FIVE OFFERS FOR GAMES

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The Tartans of Carnegie Tech will play a post season game on Jan. 2, and they hope the opposition will be the Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university.

The trustees and faculty of Tech last night approved a post-season game for the Tartans, who won eight this season, and lost only to Notre Dame. The Tartans, with five tentative bowl bids, made no secret of their desire to meet the Horned Frogs.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—A sure sign that the football season is on its last legs comes from Philadelphia—a red hot rumor that the Athletics and Tigers will participate in a six-player deal before you get the final scores of the Jan. 2 bowl games.

The Philadelphia report has it that the A's will send Third Baseman Bill Werber, Outfielder Wally Moses and First Baseman Dick Siebert to Detroit in exchange for Slugger Rudy York, Outfielder Chet Laabs or Roy Cullenbine, and rookie Infielder Benny McCoy.

FHA Records Broken Since First of Year, Report of Administrator Says.

Americans are displaying confidence in the future through their plans for home construction and property improvement, reflected in the steady rise in the volume of business transacted under the various phases of the Federal Housing administration's operations, Administrator Stewart McDonald said.

This confidence appears in the record-breaking amount of new business placed on FHA's books since the first of 1938 and particularly since the liberalized provisions of the National Housing act went into effect early in February. Since that time, according to McDonald, the volume of mortgages selected for appraisal has exceeded $800,000,000. During the same period, the volume of property improvement and repair notes reported to FHA has risen from more than $5,000,000 in the month of March to more than $22,000,000 in the month of October.

Moreover, McDonald pointed out, the activity is not confined to large metropolitan centers or mass population points. About 42 per cent of FHA's business is at present done in towns of less than 25,000 population.

"The Federal Housing Administration is inclined to the belief that its liberalized provisions for home ownership, its large-scale rental projects for those who must defer home ownership, and its Property Improvement Credit Plan have had much to do with the present increase in residential construction," McDonald said. "Construction may be attributed [illegible] for home ownership must have existed [illegible] for loans to be insured under system," McDonald said.

GAY CHILDREN'S ROOMS PLANNED

Attractive Quarters of Great Importance to Youngsters, Decorators Say.

Decorating children's rooms is one of the most delightful tasks of the professional decorator who believes, with the child psychologist, that attractive rooms for the younger generation are of the utmost importance. "A well-arranged room of his own gives the child his first and most valuable appreciation of beauty," one child specialist states.

At the Decorators' club, a center of fashionable women interior decorators of New York City, an attractive nursery has recently been displayed. Blue was successfully used for the walls—a vivid, live blue with a little red in it. The cream-painted beds and other child-sized furniture formed a pleasing contrast.

Museums, too, are demonstrating what can be done to make children's rooms more beautiful and functional. At Newark museum, in Newark, N. J., amid dignified art exhibits, may be seen an interesting arrangement of bedroom and playroom for a youngster of four to ten years of age. Plenty of light is brought in by painting the upper walls and ceiling in grayed white. One wall is adorned with a painted procession of stenciled pictures of an early covered wagon, a steam ship and a steam boat with a gay balloon above.

Most children like to tack pictures on the wall, so in this room there are sheets of cork painted blue, extending upward about three feet from the white-painted baseboard. Red linoleum covers the floor and touches of coral and red appear in the molding. The built-in shelves, placed low for convenience, are painted white with red edges.

Following such examples produced by professional interior decorators, parents are freshening up children's rooms with painted walls of clear yellow—this being a favorite color because of its sunniness. With the clear yellow, a dado of dull gray blue is good. This dado, or lower part of the wall, extends to chair height and is of a good quality, heavy enamel to protect the wall from the marks of grimy hands and make it easy to wash off. A soft red, that is, red with a little white in it, might be used for the trim in such a room. To be especially gay, a closet door might be painted entirely in red.

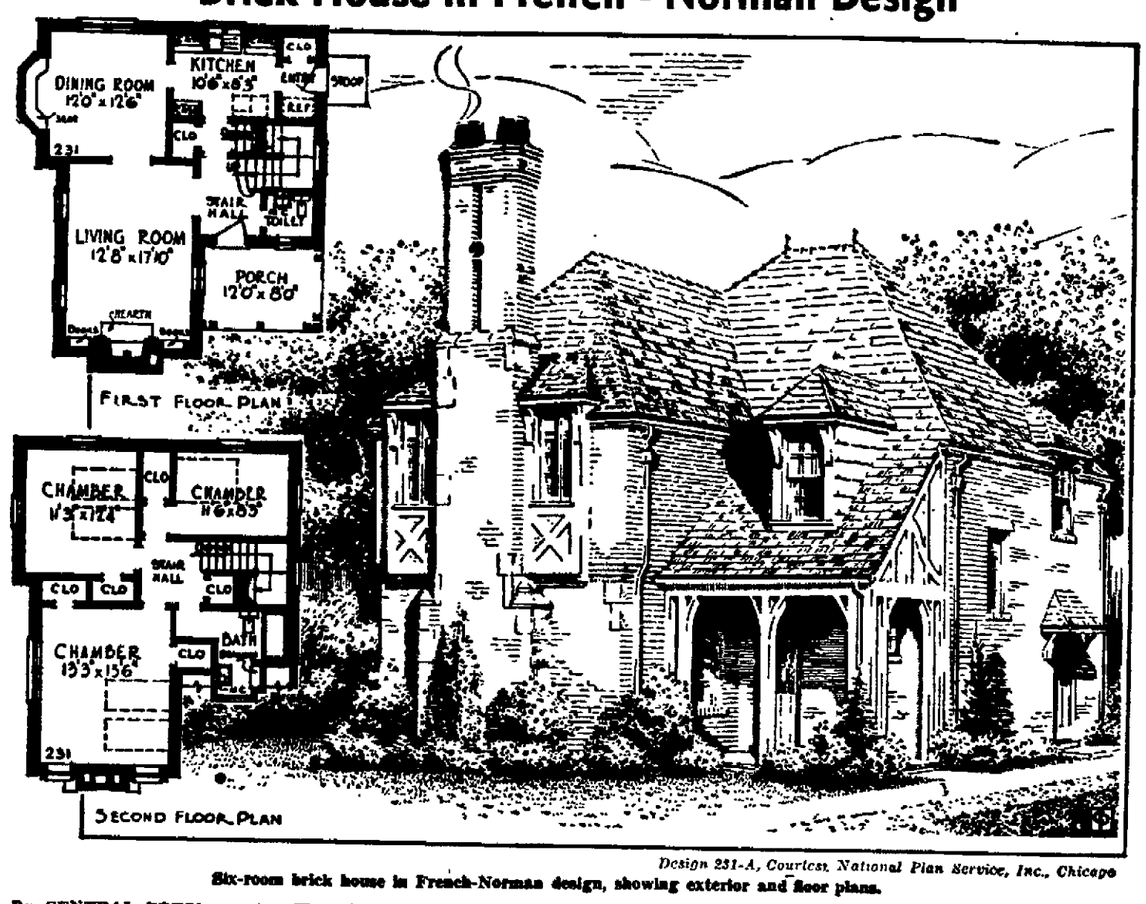
Brick House in French - Norman Design



Design 231-A, Courtesy National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

Six-room brick house in French-Norman design, showing exterior and floor plans.

By CENTRAL PRESS

This handsome brick house is in French design from the Norman period. It is a substantial type and will satisfy the owners for years.

It combines a well proportioned exterior with an interior that is practical.

There is a downstairs lavatory off the front hall, the living room has a fireplace with built-in bookshelves on either side. Back of the living room is the dining room with bay window, and the kitchen occupies the rest of the downstairs floor plan.

Upstairs are three well planned bedrooms, each with its own closet and the master bedroom with two. Built-in drawers are a convenient addition in the bathroom.

The cubic contents of the house proper are 22,150; porch is 700, making the total, 22,850 cubic feet. Size of the main building is 27 by 33 feet; size over all, 35 feet four inches by 35 feet six inches.

Room Over Garage Helps to Solve Problem of Space

The problem of a small home for a growing family may sometimes be solved with comparatively little expense by adding a second story to the garage.

If the garage is a sound structure, there should be no construction difficulties encountered in raising the roof to accommodate an additional floor. If the building is not wide enough to allow for the installation of an indoor stairway, stairs may be constructed on the outer wall.

A large number of garages already have water connections. These may be used if the second floor is to be adapted for living quarters. If it is to be used solely for recreational purposes, plumbing may not be needed.

The Federal Housing administration through its property improvement credit plan offers an opportunity for home owners to obtain funds to make additions to garages. The funds may be obtained from private lending institutions qualified by the FHA.

FIREPROOF PAINT

The increase in fireproof paint consumption in Germany has increased considerably of late. One type of this paint is a lacquer solution which does not penetrate into the wood and other materials to which it is applied, but remains on the surface. Another type penetrates beneath the surface and impregnates the body of the wood.

COLOR SCHEME

The color scheme of a modern dining room in a New York apartment as designed by a famous South American decorator, is based on coral tones. The simply styled blond furniture is surrounded by walls made off-white with a tinge of pink. A mural above the sideboard employs coral formations in shell coral, white and pink, and these shades are echoed in the shelves and the candlesticks. An off-white rug covers the floor. White prevails again in the entrance hall which has walls of white, a white linoleum floor covering, a white leather-covered wing chair, and for an intense contrast, a strong yellow ceiling.

Medical authorities generally agree that hard water is a menace to health and beauty. The lime in hard water ineffectively cleanses the digestive tract develops a tendency to calcareous diseases such as gravel and kidney stones and adheres to the inner linings of the veins and arteries of the heart causing many cases of heart disease. LIST REGAINS PORTIONS OF RECENT LOSSES

Brokers Attribute Comeback to Strengthened Technical Position of Market.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The recent downward trend in the stock market underwent a moderate reversal today and leading issues retrieved fractions to a point or more of their losses.

Brokers attributed the comeback mainly to the strengthened technical position of the list following the retreat of the past two weeks.

Prominent on the upturn were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Phillip Morris, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, U. S. Rubber and American Telephone.

Foreign markets were quiet and narrow pending outcome of the threat of a general strike in France tomorrow. European currencies continued to move up against the dollar.

Straws in the financil wind included: Forecasts department store earnings for November and December probably would equal or exceed the like period a year ago, even if sales decline 3 or 4 per cent.

Indications building contracts let during the final two months were in the neighborhood of $600,000,000, which would mean a gain of roughly 50 per cent over November and December a year ago.

FAIL TO ACT ON CLEMENCY PLEA

State Officials Say No Special Consideration Given Move to Release Wilson.

to explain the lack of interest of state officials in the attempt to win clemency for Wilson.

After checking the law, Marriott said he could find no authority for anyone to reduce the charge on which Wilson was convicted.

"Wilson was found guilty of a first degree murder charge. If he had been sentenced to the electric chair, it would have been possible for the governor to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. But that would not constitute a reduction of the charge.

"The only action the governor could take, so far as I know, would be to grant an outright pardon," Marriott said.

Marriott said yesterday he would oppose any move for clemency for Wilson.

Earhart said he had received "several letters" from friends and relatives of Wilson, but added "I have received no instructions from the governor regarding the case."

Charles L. Haslop, supervisor of parole investigation, in the state welfare department, said he had "heard a great deal about the Wilson case—both for and against" but would make no comment on what he had heard.

Haslop said he had received no request from Governor Davey for any investigation of the case.

Asked concerning any letters he might have received Haslop replied:

"The files of the department are confidential and it is not my privilege to divulge their contents."

Miss Helen Bair, named by city officials as a circulator of a Wilson petition, although she denied it, could not be reached today.

However, Russell E. Moore, 109 Hammond avenue, who was foreman of the jury that convicted Wilson said he would be opposed to any attempt to remove Wilson from prison.

Moore said he had not been approached with any request to write a letter asking clemency, but had known that such a move was under way through conversation with other jurors.

Juror Refuses To Join Move.

Edward P. Robbins, 26 North Benton street, another juror, said he had been approached by friends of Wilson and asked to write a letter asking leniency but had refused.

Mrs. Irene Jones, the only woman member of the jury, and Tolman D. Burns, 45 Linden road, said they had not been approached and had not written any letters on Wilson's behalf.

Attorney George Blecker, who was a special prosecutor in the Wilson case, echoed the stand taken by Prosecutor Marriott yesterday, when he opposed any commutation of the sentence.

Blecker said he had heard some time ago of an effort to win clemency for Wilson, and had protested to Haslop in writing.

"I fail to see how there can be a justification of a claim that Wilson was dealt with too harshly" Blecker said today in commenting on the petitions. "He was defended by able counsel, which included a former justice of the supreme court.

"Apparently counsel did not feel that the verdict was too harsh, for no appeal was filed, as it undoubtedly would have been had counsel felt that the verdict was not justified."

Wilson was defended by L. H. Beam, Mansfield and William H. Day, Cleveland, a former supreme court justice, who died shortly after the conclusion of the trial, in 1936.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO—(AP)—The world's biggest livestock market took another forced holiday. The handlers' strike that has tied up trading in the pens and cut down packing house operations throughout the district remained unbroken although approximately 9000 fresh meat animals came into the yards. Most of these were billed direct to packers but some had to be quartered in the yards where they were watered and fed by commission men.

No official quotations were available inasmuch as no sales were made through the livestock exchange, but unofficial quotations on hogs received direct indicated a prevailing price of around $7.75 per hundred for good and choice medium weights. This was about 25 cents under the prices quotable last week but was in line with outside markets where enlarged receipts lowered prices at practically all points.

Government's Fate at Stake, Daladier Says of General Strike Tomorrow.

extended military sway to subways, buses, gas, water, light, mail, telegraph, telephone and other services.

A war ministry spokesman said the number of employes thus requisitioned ran into the hundreds of thousands.

It means simply that instead of depending on ministries or private persons or being free, workers are placed under orders of military authorities and required to remain at their posts," he asserted.

Execution of the requisition decrees started at once with military occupation of vital centers in the northern industrial region where the strike began.

There were isolated incidents of minor sabotage. Several buses and trucks were halted by pickets who deflated tires or removed wheels.

But the requisition decrees generally were accepted quietly with workers clustering around posters announcing the move. The real test was expected to come tomorrow when the army attempts to keep public service workers at their posts.

The moderate press published urgent appeals for a last minute compromise between the cabinet and leaders of the strike which many feared might lead to civil fighting.

The newspaper La Republique said "history teaches that it is generally like this that revolutions begin."

"Let us have good will from both sides," pleaded L'Ordre, "before barricades are raised."

L'Oeuvre declared:

"Men of good will must seek a compromise up to the last minute. History tells us in bloody characters what happens when the Republic goes into battle against the masses of the working people."

Rejects Mediation Plan.

The order to the army came after Daladier had rejected attempts by war veterans and political parties to mediate between the government and the labor unions.

The newspaper Le Figaro, which is close to the premier, declared the possibility of mediation was "very slight."

"The time of interminable discussions between the government and labor leaders has passed," the paper said.

Sources close to the government said Daladier had conferred with Paul Marchandeau, minister of justice, to discuss possible arrest of Socialist ex-Premier Leon Blum, Communist leader Maurice Thorez and Leon Jouhaux, secretary of the Confederation of Labor.

Three leaders and their aides would be prosecuted on charges of inciting to strike.

Daladier and his ministers took the position that the movement must be completely and thoroughly smashed to guarantee the government's authority.

RESUME STRIKE PARLEY

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— Federal and state conciliators, reporting that "some definite progress has been made," reconvened today with company and CIO officials in an effort to settle a strike that has paralyzed the world's largest stockyards.

ficient funds" to cover the purchase.

Kelley said that the city's general fund from which approximately half of the municipal employes were paid showed a balance of slightly more than $15,000. Due to city workers in wages and salaries for the balance of the year is approximately $23,000.

In addition to wages to be paid, Kelley said that there was $10,000 in outstanding bills besides another $5,000 in debts which would be contracted by the end of the year.

On this basis, he said that bills totaling $38,000 would have to be met and that only $35,000 was in sight at the most, even if the city gets a $14,000 advance on the personal property taxes and an anticipated $6,000 from the October and November sales tax settlements.

Kelley predicted that the last two weeks pay for December which is usually paid to city employes before Christmas would probably be held up until late in the month and possibly until some time in January.

He explained that the departments to be affected would include all elective offices, fire and police departments, health department, parks and the judicial branch, all of which are paid out of the operating fund.

Those not affected and whose wages will be met from appropriations set up early last year are employes of the waterworks, street, sanitary sewer, garbage and several minor positions.

PUSH ON TO '40, G. O. P. SHOUTS; PARLEY OPENS

National Committee Meets to Draft 2-Year Program for New 'Victory Sweep.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON —The Republican National committee, assembled today to reinforce its election victories with a comprehensive, two-year organization campaign.

Plainly jubilant over party gains in congress and state capitols, committee members echoed the statement of Chairman John Hamilton:

"Republicans in every part of the country appear to be united in the thought that we should push ahead. . . . On to 1940 is the slogan."

There was some division of sentiment in the committee as to just how far Republicans should go along with anti-Roosevelt Democrats in the next session of congress.

The consensus, however, appeared to favor a continuation of such a coalition, which shelved the court and government reorganization bills in last congress.

Shoulder to Shoulder.

William G. Irwin, committeeman from Indiana, said there was no doubt conservatives would stand together against "radical" measures. Similar views were expressed by other members, with many asserting the party should bid actively for the support of conservative Democrats in the 1940 presidential election.

Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa said, however, that Republicans in congress probably would go down the line as an opposition group, regardless of what course anti-administration Democrats might take.

Hamilton announced the committee would have "a general discussion of our problems and plans" for the next two years. Other members explained there would be no effort to draft a rigid policy program because the party would have to meet individual situations as they arise.

There were general expressions that the committee should do nothing to tie the hands of its representatives in congress.

In line with this attitude, most members agreed that the proposal for a mid-term convention, suggested by former President Hoover and others, was dead.

A "harmony" theme was on the lips of most committeemen. In the words of F. F. Taggart, the Ohio committeeman:

"When our problems come up, we must just sit down and look at them and work them out in a friendly, calm way. All the things that confront us will work themselves out as they come along."

Taggart referred particularly to the selection of a new minority leader in the house to succeed Rep. Bertrand Snell of New York, who is retiring from congress. He predicted that contenders with the least strength probably would withdraw before the caucus of Republican house members.

Among those mentioned for the post have been Joseph W. Martin, jr., of Massachusetts, James W. Wadsworth of New York, and Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio.

The committee's session today was closed to the public. Among other things, it was expected to study ways and means of wiping out a $700,000 deficit left over from the last presidential campaign.

EMBEZZLEMENT CASE DROPPED

Company Withdraws Charge Against Former Employe.

Embezzlement charges against John Brandt, jr., former employe of the Kearns Packing company were dismissed today in municipal court.

Brandt was accused of embezzling $2,000 of the firm's funds which he had collected while employed as a salesman two years ago.

The motion for dismissal was signed by W. A. Kearns, head of the packing company, who paid the costs of $6.10. Atty. George Biddle, representing the defendant said that arrangements had been made by Brandt for restitution of the funds.

Brandt, returned here Nov. 14 from Dover by city detectives, has been at liberty under $2,500 bond.

STOCK HOLIDAY LIQUOR SUPPLY

State Stores Get Ready for $5,300,000 Business for Christmas Season.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — State liquor stores began stocking their shelves today for the Christmas holiday trade and enforcement agents prepared to get tough with violators of laws regulating the making and selling of spirits.

Liquor Director James W. Miller said that sales in December probably would approximate $5,300,000, a drop of 10 per cent from the corresponding month of last year. He estimated sales for the year would fall 15 per cent under those of 1937.

"Our chief problem at present is to curb the sale of whisky after hours and by persons who have no permits," said Al Humphrey, chief of the enforcement division. "Enforcement agents will pay particular attention to these violations during the Christmas and New Year period."

Humphrey expressed the belief that legal liquor was of sufficient quality and cheap enough to have taken most of the profit from illegal alcohol manufacture. Department chemists warned that bootleg alcohol still carried the menace of blindness and death for its users.

Miller estimated that state liquor profits and gallonage tax revenues would make between $13,000,000 and $14,000,000 available this year for old age pensions as compared with $16,000,000 in 1937.

Count Berni Vici Brings Big Revue Here Next Week

Mansfield will get an idea how some of the buildings for the World's Fair in New York City will look next year when Count Berni Vici brings his revue, one of the biggest on the road, to the Ohio theater for a three-day engagement starting Dec. 4.

Berni Vici, whose revues are distinguished by their stage settings and scenic effects, is using the World's fair theme throughout his show this year, and among the big sets will be such spectacles as the perisphere and the pylon, the Castle of Jewels, the Living Cameo, the Garden of the Gods, the Mississippi river boat race and the mechanical monster.

The count has an attractive lineup of stars this year, including Jack Benny's Schlepperman whose "Hello Stranger" on Benny's Sunday night radio program is familiar to millions of Americans. Roberta, the dancer, Berni Vici's all-girl orchestra which plays 160 different instruments, a Hollywood beauty chorus and several other talented performers are in the revue.

Berni Vici played at the Ohio last year, crowding the stage to capacity with his large cast and huge scenic sets, which included the docking of the Queen Mary.

County Accepts Litzler Bakery Bid on Bread for Infirmary.

County commissioners yesterday awarded Litzler's bakery, Mansfield, a contract for furnishing bread for the county home during 1939. The Litzler bakery also held the contract this year.

A bid of seven cents per loaf from the Mansfield bakery was ruled out by the commissioners because it did not designate the size of the loaf.

Lingafelter said that the collection on the billing was a "little better than average" for this time of the year.

He explained there was no penalty connected with non-payment of the bills but that the customers names are placed on a delinquent list and that after the first of the month service is automatically discontinued.

Campaign Goes 'Over Top' by $36 Following Ten-Day Drive by Volunteers.

ASHLAND—After ten days of soliciting, volunteer workers brought the tenth annual Ashland Community Chest Drive to a successful close.

The pledges to the Fund on Saturday night passed the goal by $38, making a total of $26,038 collected during the drive. For the tenth successive year, the drive went "over the top" in reaching the goal set by the board of governors and executive board.

Italian Editor Says Nation Errs on Racial Problem.

ROME —(AP)— Italy's most authoritative editor, Virginio Gayda, expressed hope today that the United States ambassadors to Germany and Italy, who have been conferring with President Roosevelt, would help to correct what he termed America's misunderstanding of European racial problems.

"That would be a gain for the cause of European and world harmony which in recent years has been clouded several times by the imprudent and undue initiative of President Roosevelt and his chattering men," Gayda wrote in Il Giornale D'Italia.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Instantly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

CHAPTER 9

Life, thought Sara Sue Davis, is an extremely complicated process.

This morning she was working as if Simon Legree stood over her with a whip. She swept and mopped, shook rugs, scrubbed the two bathrooms in her cottage, washed some blankets, and raked in her yard. She hardly spoke a word.

"Stop all that hard work, chile," Cleopatra Jones ordered her, twice. "Ah makes this good-for-nothin' Cal'cus do ever' bit of that, ma'am."

"I need the exercise, thanks, Cleo."

Cleo went back to her baking, muttering protests. The middle-aged negress maintained a self-appointed guardianship over Sara Sue. She knew the white girl was disturbed.

But Sara Sue had a deal of thinking to do, and thinking comes best sometimes when accompanied by physical action. She had started first to go to Hermann park golf course. Hermann park, a vast and beautiful woodland, began just one block back of her cottage. She could walk to the first tee in 10 minutes. Or she could walk to the park tennis court in even less time. But at their place she was sure to meet someone she knew and so have to be sociable. She wanted to think, alone.

* * *

By 11 a. m., though, the mood changed, and she wanted someone to talk to. She called her friend, Mrs. Powell, on the phone. "Roxie, come out and let's play a set of tennis, can't you? You can leave the baby here."

Roxie Powell had the cutest two-year-old, nicknamed Bounce. He and his mother arrived in half and hour, but he declined to be left in Cleo's charge. He declined vociferously, and so Roxie and Sara Sue took him to the tennis courts. He got in the way and was all manner of trouble, and fun. Which was ideal, for it helped Sara Sue regain her good humor, in some measure.

Sara Sue played excellent tennis, but she had been tired when she started. For one thing, she hadn't slept too well. Dr. Thornton Holgate had sat in her living room until after midnight. What he had told her had upset her a great deal. She lay awake until 2 a. m. thinking about it, and dreamed fitfully after that. She was up at 7 Whenthe set score reached four-all, fatigue overtook her and Roxie won the last two games.

"Darn!" said Sara Sue, flopping on a sideline bench.

"Yeah, you're slipping," Roxie chided. "Old widder woman." Roxie was a month younger than Sara Sue.

"Don't, please, Rox."

Roxie turned to look at her friend. Sara Sue never took defeat at tennis seriously.

"Is—is anything wrong, honey?" Roxie asked, quietly.

"Yes. No. I've just got the blues. They came back to me last night, Rox. I was a little bit lonely, I guess, and wanted to see you. You've been so good, always."

Roxie surveyed her friend carefully, searchingly.

"Is the new business all right?"

"Oh, yes. Better than I expected."

"What is it, then? Love? You're so young and sweet, Sara Sue, you're bound to find happiness again. So pretty. Tell me, what is it?"

Sara Sue laughed now, almost gaily. Then she yawned, stretched, threw a tennis ball at Bounce, got up to play with him. Roxie did not press her questions. She knew Sara Sue intimately. She waited, and played with Bounce, too. Pretty soon Sara Sue wanted to talk, but it was about clothes, babies, hair waves, new desserts, tennis strokes, department store sales, football, all manner of impersonal feminine things. In half an hour she acted, and felt, more like her normal self. Roxie had given just the touch of sympathy and intimacy needed, inviting confidence without prying.

"I've got to go feed Bounce," she stated. "He'll be howling soon. It must be after noon anyway."

* * *

It was. When they returned to the cottage, Rice classes had adjourned for the day (except for afternoon laboratory sessions) and a gang was already in Sara Sue's living room. She introduced Roxie to the collegians. All of them chatted a bit and then Sara Sue and Roxie and Bounce ate lunch in the rear dining nook.

"I think it's wonderful!" Roxie gushed, and meant it. "Don't you just have the most fun? I mean with your work and all. I should love it. The gang acts like a party. But tell me, Sara Sue, have any romances developed?" She giggled at the thought.

"Yes, I'm afraid so."

"Afraid? Didn't you advertise counsel in romance? I was thinking of hiring you, next time Jimmy and I had a fuss. I shall tell him you can get me a better husband."

"Oh, hush, Roxie. You know Jimmy worships you, and you worship him. But what I meant was, I'm getting more romances than I can handle. I'm not as smart as I thought I was. Unfortunately I—I have likes and dislikes; prejudices, I guess."

"Oh!"

"Yes. Roxie, would you believe it—two of my best customers are in love with me! Me!"

"No! Why, Sara Su-u-ue'"

"Yes. And that's not all. The funniest thing—last night after I was already getting in the bathtub at 1 o'clock, Roxie, the door bell rang and there in the rain stood— Oh! I forgot It is strictly confidential. He said so. And it should be, of course Forgive me, Rox."

"Surely. But I'll admit my curiosity is popping."

"Nothing happened, honey. Really. It was just a funny coincidence. I can tell you a little, without mentioning names. This man, this customer—you'd never guess who it was—was so earnestly in love that it hurt. He wants my closest guidance. He—"

"What, three lovers? Why, Sara Sue!" Roxie laughed, beaming.

"NO!" Not in love with me! With somebody else That's the funny part—I just hate the girl he thinks he loves, and I've got to help him make love to her!"

"I'd give a year's growth and wear freckles, to know who it is," said Roxie.

American Trade Expansion.

FOR some years it has been customary in this country to lament over the supposed failure of our Latin-American export trade. As a matter of fact, our trade in that quarter has been growing nicely in recent years. An American expert who is a delegate to the approaching Pan-American conference in Peru stated the other day that our exports to Central and South America greatly surpass those of every other country, and there is not one important Latin-American country whose import trade we do not dominate.

A newspaper survey of the situation shows that our exporters now have grown so confident that they no longer have much fear of German, Italian and Japanese competition in South America. They find it easier to sell there because our goods are usually better than those of our competitors, and because the Latin-Americans today have more confidence in us than they used to, and like us better.

"We have nothing to fear in the way of competition there except from our own American competitors, says an American representative of a big export firm. "Central and South Americans would rather buy American products even if they cost a little more than competing goods from Europe or Asia, because they like and trust the goods made in the United States."

Speeder Gives Safety Advice.

A. B. JENKINS, the "Iron Man" of the speedways, has decided to make a tour of the eastern states in behalf of safe highways.

Jenkins holds more endurance driving and speed records than any other man. He was the pioneer speed driver on the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah. He expects next summer to challenge Capt. George Eyston's land speed record of 357.5 miles per hour. He should be a hero in the view of speed enthusiasts, young or old.

He holds one record that any driver should respect and seek to achieve. He has driven automobiles a total of 2,000,000 miles without an accident. That gives authority to his list of suggestions for safe driving.

"Be alert," says Jenkins. "Be master of your car at all times. Keep on your own side of the highway. Don't cut in. If you've been drinking, keep out of an automobile. Don't speed in heavy traffic. Be courteous to other drivers. Keep your car mechanically perfect."

That about covers everything. Widespread practice of such rules would come close to clearing streets and highways of all traffic accidents.

French Sit-down Strikes.

FRANCE, where the sit-down strike originated, has been having more trouble of that sort lately. It was especially objectionable because the wave of "stay-in strikes," as the French call them, occurred in industries concerned with national defense. Thus not only were private property rights concerned, but the very safety of the nation.

The government therefore has been obliged to "crack down." Premier Daladier, governing temporarily with emergency powers, sent orders to the heads of all "departments" in the country, corresponding to our American states, to "put an end immediately to factory occupations."

It is obviously necessary to do that if France is to continue capable of self-government. The same principle holds true, of course, in the United States, Great Britain and other democracies. "Free countries," where the principle of private ownership still prevails, can not allow any such confusion of ownership and suspension of property rights, and totalitarian governments would not permit such local seizure and control by any group.

Fortunately this issue, which first arose in America less than two years ago, now seems definitely settled both in law and practice. Property rights remain such, and rights of workers are guaranteed by new procedure.

Offspring of Stork Derby.

AS AN AFTERMATH of Canada's notorious "stork derby" it now develops that, according to psychiatrists, one of the prize-winning mothers "has a mental age of eight years and ten months and should be confined in an institution."

This will raise a question in the minds of many people as to whether any woman who would enter a child-bearing contest extending over a ten-year period could be regarded as mentally sound.

Parenthood involves responsibilities which cannot be safely disregarded and the idea of placing the production of children on a competitive basis, without regard to the physical, mental or financial condition of parents, is entirely out of accord with common sense.

In commenting on the case of the Toronto woman, one of the examining physicians said: "Her social history shows she is unfit to live in the community. There are none like her at large."

Surely advancing civilization will eventually find a way to humanely prevent unrestricted propagation of children by mentally deficient parents.

A Creeping Peril.

THE democratic nations are certainly learning a lesson of tolerance from what is happening in Germany. The more clearly the spirit and method of Fascist autocracy are revealed, the more do free countries realize the value of their ancient freedoms of speech, press, assembly and religion.

It is intolerance, whether of majorities or minorities, that leads to the destruction of these liberties. Even in America such dangers are latent, and might be fanned into a flame of persecution if they are not suppressed.

Dictators may be long on foresight, but they're usually shy on background.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Anyone looking for the new Anglo-American trade treaty to draw a throttling cordon around the neck of German trade likely will be disappointed.

Trade experts point out that German exports to this country are largely goods in which Germany specializes. Two of the largest classifications are chemicals, of which this country's importations are extensive, and cameras and lenses. The boom in the German export of cameras to this country has been one of the outstanding trade developments in some time. Camera-conscious America is demanding an increasing portion of German types as well as those made in America.

Since the German exports to this country are mostly her own specialties, trade experts say English goods are not likely to replace them extensively even with the concessions granted by the U. S. in the treaty.

* * *

'Intangibles' May Hit Nazis.

ANY blow at Germany will be found in the "intangible" factors in connection with the treaties. These treaties and others already negotiated have linked France, England, Canada and the United States in a trade group pledged to treat one another fairly and without discrimination. Among these nations and others willing to reciprocate, trade will be on a non-preferential cash basis as distinguished from the German-style barter basis which has proved onerous to some nations.

It should be remembered that both the United States and the British Isles enjoy extensive trade with Germany in spite of barter difficulties. It is a fairly advantageous trade in both instances. Both the United States and England find Germany a good market for petroleum products. England also sells Germany coal, iron ore and copper, of which she has either plenty or access to plenty.

In turn, the United States sells to Germany cotton and a host of agricultural products, just such products as she sells to England. In recent years the cotton market has largely failed, being usurped by Brazil which is able to absorb in exchange for her cotton a larger share of German manufactures than this country's competitive industries will permit. In 1934, however, we sent Germany 100,000,000 bales.

England's concessions to the United States are largely on agricultural products, which will not injure Germany's trade with England because Germany does not sell agricultural products. Instead she is an avid buyer of them from any country which will sell under her own particular exchange terms.

* * *

Same Concessions to Nazis.

IT IS barely possible that the concessions given the United States in trade with Britain and the colonies may make it easier for Germany to compete with the U. S. in these markets. For while it is true that Germany is on our blacklist, she is not blacklisted by England. So every concession England granted to the United States she also grants to Germany. That isn't as ominous as it might sound, as here again, the concessions are mainly on goods which we have to sell but Germany doesn't.

The primary aim of the Anglo-American trade pact is to increase the net amount of trade between the two countries without necessarily squeezing out any other country. It is quite likely that such an increase will be reflected in an increased trade on all hands, Germany included, as Secretary Hull hoped.

The reductions made by the two countries and Canada are important but not exactly revolutionary. One trade analyst said the most immediate increase in trade would result from the assurance of stability of conditions. As long as the treaty was pending and uncertain, exporters and importers as well as domestic business men have felt uncertain as to what to expect. Many trade commitments have been held up. Now that uncertainty is gone.

Timely Editorial

Cruelty To Animals.

One of the most deliberately ruthless actions taken by the CIO organization in all its inconsiderate history is its action in walking out of the Chicago stockyards on strike without making any provision for feeding or watering of the thousands of animals left helpless in the pens.

Had it not been for the remaining workers at the yards, the A. F. of L. workers and even in some instances office workers, taking it upon themselves to provide food and water for the sheep, pigs and cattle, many thousands would have died an agonizing death.

A deliberate cruelty such as this easily raises the question of how far the CIO leaders might go in dealing with common human values of decent treatment, if they ever attain the political powers they seek, if they will treat dumb animals unable to protect themselves with such disregard.—Columbus Dispatch.

THE GREAT AMERICAN GAME

Murphy In Line for Cabinet Post

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — New Dealers generally, admitting that the fact there are now three cabinet members from New York, which eliminates Robert H. Jackson as a serious contender for the attorney generalship, are predicting that Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan will be appointed.

No one can be sure what the president will do, especially as it is not an easy task he has to pick out a man who will seem to the country big enough for the job, and yet be a militant New Dealer—especially as the department of justice is one place where it is extremely important, from the White House standpoint, to have a 100% New Dealer. As a matter of fact, Homer S. Cummings had certain failings, from the New Deal standpoint, because every now and then he would have a conservative reaction.

* * *

SO MURPHY, once Jackson is passed over, would seem a "natural" for the attorney generalship.

But to appoint him would be to provoke a new White House versus senate battle, which would approach the supreme court entanglement fight in bitterness and popular interest. Moreover, the president would be committing himself in advance, in this battle, to the side which, if one is to accept the political verdict on Capitol Hill, is unpopular.

It is generally agreed among politicians here that the biggest surprise of this year's primaries and elections was the reaction of the voters to CIO and the sit-down strike. The first important manifestation was the Texas primary, where all five of the congressmen marked for defeat by the CIO were triumphantly renominated, and where three of CIO's best friends, headed by Maury Maverich, went down to defeat. It cropped out in various other primaries, but then the verdict became confused with the Ohio primary, where CIO's most hated governor, Martin L. Davey, was defeated. Especial interest attached to this result because if the vote of the one city of Akron could have been eliminated, Davey would have been renominated.

* * *

THE confusion was complicated by the fact that Governor Charles H. Martin was defeated in Oregon, after a vigorous fight by CIO, and blasts by Secretary Harold L. Ickes. But the election changed the impression given by the Oregon and Ohio primaries. Sitdown strike political victories, as the primaries had been regarded, were turned into bitter defeats by the overwhelming triumph of the Republicans in these two gubernatorial battles.

This, added to the impressive failure of the CIO to roll up big majorities in Detroit and Flint when Governor Murphy was being mowed down by the Michigan voters, drove most politicians to agree that Vice President John Nance Garner was everlastingly right when he denounced the sympathetic attitude of the administration towards sitdown strikes as bad politics.

Murphy having been defeated, according to all reports from Michigan, largely because of his action with respect to the sitdown strikes, that issue would be at once paramount in any fight on his confirmation. Roosevelt's choice would be opposed by all the senators, almost without exception, who opposed him on the supreme court, on government reorganization, etc. They would have some recruits who feel strongly on this issue, or who have seen the political light since the last session. It would be a nasty scrap.

Hence Roosevelt will be strongly urged not to appoint Murphy.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

A Great, Costly Delusion.

By WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor of Economics, New York University.

The recent Orson Welles radio episode provided the general public with a remarkable example of the ease with which many of our people can be misled. The American people ought to learn a great lesson from that demonstrated proof of their gullibility.

The most fundamental difference between the scientific and unscientific person is that the former reaches conclusions through the use of the mind, while the latter is dominated by his emotions. Facts and fundamental truths, in the form of principles, can be obtained only by training the mind to follow certain well-established lines of procedure—the methodology of science. Scientific procedure requires that judgment be held in abeyance until facts justify a conclusion.

Every person disturbed by the Welles broadcast should realize that he jumped before he looked, and that emotion rather than reason controlled him. He might do well to ask himself whether this is not a common practice with him.

Fortunately, the Welles delusion cost the American people practically nothing. It was at least a free show, and for that we may be thankful.

But this cannot be said about one of the greatest delusions of the day which, since 1933, has been put over on this nation. This "show" has already cost the American people a pretty penny, and promises tragic results before we have stopped it. The federal debt alone has gone to 38.5 billion dollars, and apparently will exceed 40.6 billion dollars by June 30, 1939.

If the great mass of American people were ruled by their intellects rather than by blind emotions, they would ask themselves some serious questions about this business which, in the end, they will, or should, discover was a delusion with appalling ramifications.

For example: How did the quick and pronounced business recovery of 1921-1923 take place while the government pursued policies almost the direct opposite in nearly every respect of those followed since 1932? Why has unemployment been so heavy and so persistent? Why has the flow of capital into new enterprise been so small in amount? Why has recovery in the field of building construction been so little? Why has the number of people on relief continued to be so large? Why are agricultural prices so low despite the government's programs? Is not the government's contention that we must "spend to save" utterly false and just the reverse of the truth? Why should this generation pile up a huge tax burden for our children to pay? Do a strong people do that?

When those people, deluded by the Welles program, discovered that they had acted like simpletons they were thoroughly angry and rushed to the "authorities" for protection. That reaction was also significant. These foolish, emotional people want the state to protect them from their own foolishness!

It is precisely that sort of thing that has been going on in this country since 1932, and it is still going on.

One cannot help wondering what the consequences will be when the great mass of people wake up from the great delusions of 1933 to date and see clearly that they not only have been fooled thoroughly by a group of slick politicians, who have taken advantage of public gullibility, but will have to pay for this foolishness for years to come! Will they rush to the government for more protection from their foolishness? And, if so, what will this mean? Will it lead to Socialism or Communism or Facism because the people are willing to admit that they are incapable of exercising with intelligence the liberties permitted by a democracy?

Few things make people angrier than to learn that they acted foolishly. The impairment of one's self-respect makes a deep wound. The common reaction is to attack something or someone else. The Welles episode provided a fine illustration of this fact.

What will happen when the great awakening from the Great Delusion of 1933 to date finally comes—when people see that they have been fooled and that as a consequence, they and their children will have to pay and pay for this foolishness for years to come? Will they not be even more bitter when they learn that this huge debt was utterly unnecessary, and that much of it represents funds used by the government politically to delude the people to keep the New Dealism in power?

A Farmer's Diary

Struggle For Life.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

NOT long ago as I was walking down the drive that leads to the western gravel road, I saw, concealed beneath some tufts of grass half way down the ditch, a spray of calico asters. They stood out so fresh and new in their white and yellow gowns, that they fairly glowed in the western sun.

The wind was cool that day, even from the south, but the sheltering bank protected them and the sun shone warm upon the fringed petals. The spray seemed a challenge to all the drab and frozen plants around.

As I stooped to touch this hardy branch, I was shocked to see a slow, steady movement of a flower almost concealed beneath the rest. To my amazement a honey bee emerged, and feebly crawled across the compound yellow center, attempting to get the belated nectar.

It moved so tardily, on stiffened legs, that I feared it could not keep its balance on the flower, but as the pleasant sunshine bathed its wings and body, the bee responded quickly to the warmth and moved more rapidly across one flower and then another, receiving constantly more vital nourishment. The moistened wings began to rustle and buzz, with difficulty at first, then with a constantly increasing power, that almost bore its body from the bloom.

I broke off the flowering cluster, and with the struggling bee upon it, carried it to the side of the barn where the chilly wind did not reach and the direct sunlight, reflecting from the boards, made the seclusion doubly warm. Here I watched the little creature, still more intent on gathering food, as though the sun and warmth had increased the flow of nectar.

When my little friend had sucked its fill, it flew about the flowers contentedly, then with one great effort, took off from the lowly feeding grounds, and rose high into the azure blue, until it disappeared from sight.

Listen, World!

You DO Matter!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THAT'S the question which is hounding you these days; heckling your tired brain and discouraged heart.

"Why should I matter—one little person like me—in all this huge world?" you say to yourself. "Why should my little troubles matter? Nobody cares about me or my troubles. Nobody has the time or the heart to care.

"Everybody's out for himself these days. Power—that's all that counts. Power and wealth. Doesn't matter how crookedly you got 'em. Doesn't matter how cruel or selfish or unfair you are, if you've got the pull and the place you count. And if you haven't, you don't.

"So what's the use of trying? What's the use of going on? I never had the breaks and I never will have them. I was licked before I started. And nobody cares. FOR I DON'T MATTER! There's the terrible truth I've been trying to duck all my life, but I've got to face it at last. I DON'T MATTER."

Is that what you've been thinking to yourself these days—yes?

Then, don't!

For you're wrong—YOU DO MATTER!

YOU MATTER NOT ONLY TO YOURSELF BUT TO THE WORLD—TO THE RACE.

You matter as much as you thought you mattered long ago in those proud, hopeful, excited days before you were twenty. Do you remember those days? Down in the dumps one hour; up on the heights the next. But never for a second did you doubt that you mattered. Never for a second did you doubt that you had wonderful secret powers; that you were "different"; that some day, you would make good and "show 'em all!"

You laugh at those dreams now. Perhaps you sneer at them.

YET THAT DREAMING YOUNGSTER WAS RIGHT!

He was right when he felt that he mattered—that he was really a "blessed event." For stop and think what went to the making of that youngster who was you.

Now you are saying, "I'm just a poor carpenter out of a job," or "I'm just a little stenog, and who cares whether I die or not?"

But that's not so. You're more—far more—than "just a poor carpenter" or "a little stenog." You're a harvest of the ages!

Billions of lives have gone to the making of YOU! Countless generations of men and women have lived and died, struggled, suffered, battled, prayed, worked, wept and sacrificed, that you might be what you are and where you are today.

You think this is a cruel world? Think of the appalling cruelty of this world when men still lived by the law of the wolf and baboon.

But out of all that blundering came wisdom. Out of all that battling came courage. Out of all the suffering came kindness—and a dawning sense of decency and justice.

And out of everything came—YOU. All that they were, all that they did, lives on in you today.

Just a common little person who doesn't matter? No, my dear; you are the hope and the harvest of all those defiant generations who, though dead, still live on in—YOU. You are their masterpiece. You are the latest challenge, hurled by mankind against the Powers of Darkness.

YOU CARRY THEIR TORCH!

You think you don't matter? You're ready to quit? Don't! If your heart is so sick that you no longer feel that you matter to yourself, remember this—YOU MATTER TO THEM. If you quit yourself—YOU QUIT THEM.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—This was too bad: At a big Park avenue wedding last Saturday the bridesmaids' dresses failed to show up and the bridesmaids had to march down the aisle in street clothes, trailed by a bride-in-white who wore her mother's lace-and-batiste wedding gown.

The wedding was held at St. Bartholomew's church, in the chapel. There were hundreds of guests. Outside a stream of chauffeur-driven cars awaited the bridal party. So did half a dozen society photographers, and hundreds of passers-by.

The ceremony was scheduled for 4:30. At 5:30 the bridesmaids, who had been huddled in the maid of honor's apartment, straggled up the church steps in everything from wool sports costumes to black daytime frocks. But the bride's mother insisted on the full wedding party—so they went through it, carrying a tremendous sheaf of rubrum lilies.

Whose fault was it? Why, the bride's, and hers alone. Twice she defied superstition. First, she rehearsed her own wedding. Then she saw the groom on her wedding day, which is invariably fatal.

What a pity.

IT SEEMS strange that comedy of the horse and buggy variety clicks the heaviest on Broadway today. But this is true. The Olson and Johnson clowning in the sellout "Hellzapoppin" is ancient, wheezy and threadbare, but it is delivered in a rip-snorting style the defies critical opinion.

Love might get you a seat but money can't. They're all sold out.

Then only today I was watching a comedian (?) rehearse with an orchestra and this is the stuff that made up the act.

"When I come out on the stage," he told the boys, "I'll have a gun with me, and I'll look up and take a quick shot at a flock of birds. But a fish falls out of the air and hits me."

This was greeted by a shout of approval.

* * *

THEN I'll get tired of shooting and take up golf, but when I swing the club it will wrap around my neck (Harry Lauder did this 35 years ago), and when this happens I'll yell 'Fore' and then you guys all yell 'five-six-seven.' That always kills 'em. That lays 'em in the aisles. Then I'll lean over to pick up another club, and you guys all throw golf balls at me, and everytime you hit me in the pants the drummer will pound on the bass drum."

This went on for 35 minutes. I mean, it was going on when I arrived, and it hadn't ended when I left, 35 minutes later. And when the act hits Broadway next week it will go big. This comedian (?) never fails. He always gets rave reviews. It's something which to me can't be fathomed.

Miss Hanley Has Program Before Mansfield Group

Miss Veronica Hanley served as hostess and gave the program last night when members of the Little Flower Study club assembled at her home. She reviewed the book "Death Solves Nothing" by Margaret Sothern.

The story shows the conflict of communism and the Christian view of life. It pictures a poor and lonely German girl, her spirit crushed by Nazism, seeking comfort with a friend who proves to be a communist spy.

The constant conflict of the German girl's faith and the communism which she unwittingly aids eventually leads to her death. "Communism," Miss Hanley said, "is studied with deep insight, particularly from the viewpoint of those who might find its materialism repulsive."

Fall flowers decorated the luncheon table. The next meeting will be a Christmas party, Dec. 12, at the home of Mrs. J. O. Hanley, Davis road. At this time members will bring canned goods for the organization's welfare work.

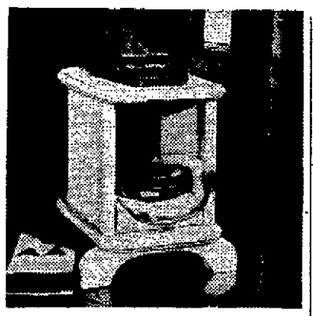
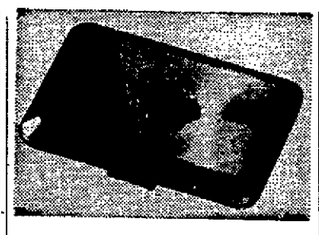
Lovely Answer To Gift Giving Problems

Perfume, Cologne and Jewels—Gifts Close to a Woman's Heart.



Shoe Shine Box For Men.



Sparkling Evening Vanity.

Compact Manicure Set.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer.

Most women are perfume collectors at heart. That's why perfume is a safe bet as a Christmas gift.

There aren't any really safe rules to follow in buying, but the woman who has a variety of perfumes always will appreciate some new scent. And the woman who has a favorite scent or group of scents will appreciate a new supply of those.

Sometimes it's a good plan to match perfume favorites with scented accessories. There are eau de colognes as well as bath powder, bath scents, lingerie sachets and bath soaps to complement many perfumes.

Evening compacts are gifts that send a flutter to the heart—if that's the effect you're after. Don't get compacts too large, though! They must fit neatly into an evening purse.

Comb-and-brush sets, make-up kits and manicure sets are three other universally popular beauty gifts.

If you get a comb and brush set, be sure it is practical as well as decorative. The brush should have firm bristles and a handle that is easy to grasp. The comb must be sturdy enough to stand plenty of use. And the mirror should be clear and fairly large.

Among the newer sets on the Christmas market are several in maple, designed for the woman whose bedroom is in that wood. More elaborate are those with crystal handles and cloisonne backs.

Manicure sets should be equipped with a good file and a good scissors or pair of nippers.

"Personal appearance" gifts also are practical for men—who seldom will buy them themselves. Suggestions: brush sets, (satinwood, ebony, teakwood or the new Thuyo wood are all durable and attractive) electric shavers, leather utility kits, lighted shaving mirrors, tie racks and even shoe-shine boxes complete with polish, brushes and shoe cloths.

ARE YOU BREATHLESS?

By John C. Davis, Druggist

Many times a man or woman concludes that he or she has a heart condition because of breathless, or difficulty in breathing particularly in evidence after climbing stairs or some unusual exertion.

And quite often such a condition has nothing to do with the heart at all, but is brought about by a chronic bronchial condition which makes breathing difficult.

There are treatments and remedies for bronchitis, relieving the condition and working towards a permanent cure. Only a qualified physician should prescribe for your difficulty—only he can decide. Do not accept the advice of friends—consult your doctor.

His first and best aid is a competent pharmacist. Submit prescriptions to a skilled druggist.

CLUB UNDERTAKES WELFARE PROGRAM

Victorian Members Plan for Holiday; Mrs. Richard Fishback Presents Paper on "Department of Agriculture."

A VARIETY of welfare work for the holiday weeks was discussed yesterday during the business meeting of the Victorian club when Mrs. W. A. Harbeson entertained at the Women's Club. The group planned to do both organizational and individual work this year.

Mrs. Richard Fishback gave the paper of the day when she presented "The Department of Agriculture." She told of the 21 different divisions of the department, and sketched the historical background. The speaker said that Lincoln formed an agriculture commission in 1862, and that the regular department was not instituted until 1881.

A guest of the organization was Mrs. Ackerman, and Mrs. Carl O. Russell and Mrs. Dwight Weir poured tea which was served at a table decorated with a centerpiece of red carnations.

The next meeting will be a 1:30 p. m. dessert-luncheon at the club. Members of the Victorian and the Round Table clubs will be meeting jointly at this time for a Christmas meeting, and Mrs. Vernon Redding and Mrs. Lester Redding will be the hostesses.

Matrimony Problem Of Two

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been going steady with a young man of 30. I am only 21. He says he is very much in love with me and wants me to marry him, but I hesitate because I do not love him. He can give me a lovely home and about everything I want, but I doubt if it would be wise to take a chance on falling in love with him after I marry him. What do you advise?

EVELYN.

It's pretty risky to experiment with marriage in this way—to marry and then hope that love will come knocking at your door afterward. It does happen that way occasionally, but you're taking a big chance. If you're interested in this man only because you think he can give you the comforts of life, it's almost like using him as a meal ticket.

You have plenty of time. Why not wait until you fall in love?

* * *

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 23 years old and find myself engaged to a nice girl, but one I don't love. Our mothers, lifelong friends, had made plans for our marriage almost from the time we were born. In a half-hearted way we both fell in with these plans and became engaged. I don't believe she loves me any more than I do her.

Here's my problem: I've really and truly fallen in love with a girl who works in the same office with me. She likes everything I like, and we get along swell. I wish to break my engagement to my mother's choice. Our mothers think that a broken engagement would only be casting reproach on my fiancee, and that it would be dishonorable of me to marry the other girl. What do you think of this mix-up?

EARL.

Broken engagements are not regarded as they were a generation ago, and I think it would be as unfair to the girl as it would be to yourself to marry someone just to please your mothers. A modern girl with a grain of pride would not hold you to such an arrangement. Why don't you ask the young lady to release you? She may be just as glad to break it off as you are.

Use lube-warm water and borax to wash out your refrigerator. This keeps it sweet and clean; also a piece of charcoal kept on one of the shelves will absorb all odors.

Wash angora bonnets and mittens in warm suds made of pure white soap to which one teaspoon of ammonia has been added Rinse in several waters of the same temperature, wring out in a Turkish towel, and dry as quickly as possible in the house in winter.

Simple Recipes For Cookies

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

IF THERE is one time of year when even the amateur cook should come through with a batch of festive, home-made cookies, it surely is at Christmas. Try some of these recipes if you have been a laggard at the oven lately, and make yourself a swell present by showing the gang how smart you are.

Honey, nut and ginger cookies are very much in the holiday tradition. Mix one cup honey, one cup sugar, one cup melted shortening and one beaten egg. Add one cup chopped pecans or walnuts, one cup flour, sifted with one tablespoon ginger, and two teaspoons baking powder. Mix well and add enough additional sifted flour to make of a consistency to drop from a spoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven, about 375 degrees F.

Umm! Fruit Cookies!

Christmas fruit cookies call for an impressive ingredient line-up, but you'll find 'em worthy of the ingredients and the effort. The recipe requires one cup shortening, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one egg, two tablespoons molasses, one-half cup sour milk, four cups flour, teaspoon cloves, teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, teaspoon soda, one-half cup chopped raisins, two tablespoons grated lemon peel or orange peel, one-half cup chopped dates and one cup chopped Brazil nuts. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, molasses and sour milk. Sift flour, spices, salt, baking powder and soda together, and add dredged fruit and nut meats. Blend with first mixture. Roll on lightly-floured board and bake in 375 degrees F. oven for 15-20 minutes.

Crispies.

Cocoanut crispies call for one-half cup shortening, one cup white sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one and three-quarters cups flour, one cup cocoanut, teaspoon vanilla and one-half teaspoon cinnamon Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg and mix well. Add vanilla and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in the cocoanut. Roll into rolls about two inches in diameter. Place in cold place for three hours or overnight. Then cut in thin slices and bake on greased baking sheet in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., for 10 minutes.

He-man ginger cake is what the man of our house has named this recipe (the name giving him the excuse to do away with more than his allotted portion). It requires two eggs, four teaspoons ginger, one teaspoon each applespice and cinnamon, one cup molasses, one-third cup granulated sugar, three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder (dry), one-half teaspoon salt, one cup sour milk and one-third cup shortening. Beat together eggs, spices, molasses and sugar. In a separate bowl, sift together the flour, baking soda and milk. Stir dry ingredients into first mixture, adding a little at a time and alternating with sour milk pour gradually. Then stir in the melted shortening. Then bake at 350 degrees F. for about 25 minutes or until cake is done. It makes two medium-sized cakes.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Nov. 30.

ACCORDING to this day's astral activities, there may be some conflicting experiences. While there are testimonies of beneficial, if sudden, change or travel, with the support of elders or old connections, there are also hints of disagreements, contention and opposition, even to the point of litigation. Sidestep these by tact and compromise where advisable and all may be diverted into happy and lucrative channels, with enmities turned into support.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves engulfed in a year of contradictory situations. There is much promise through change, travel and the friendly endorsement of elders or old institutions. At the same time, there may be loopholes for definite friction, strife and litigation These may be avoided by restraint, diplomacy and sagacity, and keeping a curb on the tongue and temper.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, practical and ambitious, thus attracting elders. It may also be hasty, impetuous and too quick in speech and action for its own good Its nature may cause many changes in its occupation.

Contact with a sharp man is very likely to dull one's confidence in humanity.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"What!" she exclaimed, and then she flushed a bit shamefacedly.

"That's certainly one on me," she said. "I was so absorbed in this affair of Hank's that I forgot all about our date with Noel."

"Don't let Noel know I forgot, will you?" she pleaded.

"Of course not, goose!" I laughter. "And now, let's get ready".

"I'll start this second," she said. "Oh, it doesn't seem possible that I'm actually going to see my boy so soon!"

"I imagine Noel is doing some counting of the hours himself," I said, "so we would better hurry."

"I won't be ten minutes," she promised. "How long are we going to stay, and what do I need to take.

"We'll probably stay two or three days," I told her," but neither you nor Noel is going to stir out of the hotel suite while you are there. It's too risky. And I am only going out myself to make a telephone call if I have to. So all you will have to take are pretty things to wear in the hotel; that's all I'm going to take, for, of course, we'll come away in the same street suits we wear over. And of course, we'll take my typewriter and your scripts for our work.

Her eyes suddenly shadowed.

"I only hope," she said, and stopped.

I answered her unfinished sentence.

"I'm sure everything will be all right," I told her. "Do you mind leaving things to me if you think they're getting difficult?"

She flashed me a quick, impish grin, and I saw with relief that her dolor was gone, and that she was her old, sunny, volatile self once more.

"For 'things' read 'my darling husband,'" she said. "And you're shouting sure I'll leave him to you. I've seen you in action, remember. If you can't manage Noel with both hands tied behind you, and your ankles shackled and one eye in bandages, I'll eat my new hat which I haven't bought yet."

"I don't think there'll be anything for me to do," I said, with more hope than I felt, and Mary looked at me keenly.

"I'm afraid you're qualifying for a Sapphira role," she said. "But who am I to question you? I'm simply keeping my fingers crossed every second of the time for now until we get back here again."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

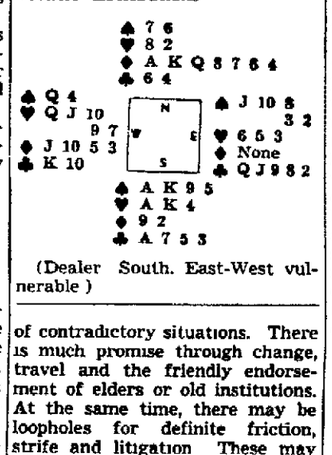
"The Authority on Authorities"

CHEAP INSURANCE

Giving up one trick, in order to make your rubber game absolutely safe, is a pretty economical premium to pay on such a valuable insurance policy Yet there are plenty of very fair players who do not think of such moves, but who play as if they expect luck to guard them against unfavorable distributions



(Dealer South. East-West vulnerable)

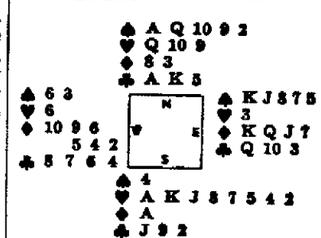
South's opening bid on this deal was 1-Spade, to which North responded with 2-Diamonds. After a 3-Club bid by South, North rebid his diamonds and South then went to 3-No Trump.

West led the heart Q against this contract and South took the trick with the heart K. Declarer could count on two tricks in spades, two in hearts, one in clubs, so needed four diamond tricks.

To the second trick, South led the diamond 2 to the Q and when East showed out, declarer realized that he could win only three diamond tricks With stoppers in the other three suits, he should have given up one diamond to provide for the possibility that four diamonds were in one hand. As he had no prospect of picking up an additional trick in any other suit, his safest play was to have relinquished one possible winner or the chance that the suit was unevenly distributed in the opponents' hands.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should declarer plan the hand to make 7-Hearts, after the lead of the spade 6?

Diary of a Fashion Model

Comfortable, Effective Model.

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Consuelo's play is a triumph. Such reviews, such curtain calls, such flowers, such an ovation! I've never seen anythink like it. Consuelo was forced to make a little curtain speech after the show, but she insisted on coming on stage with the producer, the director, the author of the book and lyrics and the composer. The ambassador and his official staff came up from Washington to give his countrywoman his blessing, and everyone who is anyone was there.

The whole day was beautiful I went down to the office in the mornnig and once again got a kick out of being in my own office with my own desk and pictures of my folks on it. Then I had a bite, went on to the hairdresser's and got home about 5 o'clock. Consuelo was having a nap. I did a few odd jobs, then had a tub, a real luxury tub, and had my own nap. Then I got dressed and I was all ready and able to sit with Consuelo while she had a tray served in her room. I saw her off to the theater early, for she wanted to read some of the wires and letters that she was told were already there for her.

Met Her People.

A little after seven Bill arrived for me with the very nice young man who is beauing Dodo round. Then we drove over to the hotel and met my people there. Madame had a large company, 20 in all, but everything had been so well arranged that the whole meal was served without any fuss or hurry and we were ready for the theater in good time. Of course, we had the usual struggle getting through the crowd of sightseers and autograph hounds, and I was glad when we were safely in our seats. Don was a big attraction, which meant that we were in for a bit of mauling.

Of course, our party was split up, but it was nice we three couples—Don and his wife, Dodo and her beau and Bill and I—were together. My people were with Madame and her party. We three girls all had beautiful white orchids and I must say that we looked pretty nice, Phylys, of course, being the real eyeful.

I noted several magnificent evening frocks that were fashioned of woolen. This one was a typical example. This comfortable and effective model is of suede-finished wool in an overblouse cut with self-collar and ermine revers, also ermine pockets. The skirt is really a dress worn underneath. The top is of crepe, cut simply with narrow shoulder straps above a camisole decollete. The skirt has a slight train in center back.

If clothes are scorched in ironing wet the scorched part, cover with cornstarch and rub in well. When dry remove the cornstarch and all traces of scorch will be removed.

Ailing Mansfield Lady Wins Relief After Suffering Years

MRS. CORA I. DAVIDSON

Never a day passes now but what some Mansfield resident comes back to the Central Drug Store and tells the Vendol Man how his medicine has done them worlds of good. Some of the reports are really outstanding, one such being that of Mrs. Cora I. Davidson of 314 Ninth Ave., Mansfield, who says:

"For years there was hardly a night that I could sleep through without being awakened by my kidneys until I began taking Vendol a few weeks ago, and it acted as such a wonderful diuretic that for the first time since I can remember I'm not called up.

"I also suffered terribly with indigestion, gas in my stomach, felt bloated all the time and would have awful headaches and dizzy spells, also, my appetite was in and out, sometimes I was so hungry I couldn't get enough to eat, at others I couldn't touch a thing. I was so tired and listless that life just felt a burden.

"I'm sure all my troubles were due to constipation and excess acid in my stomach, because Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets gave marvelous relief from constipation giving thorough elimination, then, all the ailments that had bothered me for years just passed away and today I'm feeling grand.

"I feel sure that everyone suffering like I did will find Vendol a very satisfactory medicine."

Vendol is made from extracts of 12 roots and herbs combined with alkalines making a double-acting remedy which acts promptly to relieve many troubles due to need of a diuretic to the kidneys or constipation. Hundreds all over this vicinity owe their present health and comfort to this excellent medicine.

Give this grand medicine made of nature's Roots, Herbs, and mild Alkalines a chance to help you, too. Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and 4th Sts., and let the Vendol Man explain all about it. Druggists everywhere sell and recommend Vendol.

WITH THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the handsome new 1939 Packards, no Packard owner now finds himself left with a style "orphan."

In fact, no Packard owner has ever awakened one morning, full of pride in his still-new car, only to discover that radical style changes have branded it an "out-of-date model."

Does this mean that Packard opposes style changes? Of course not—for change is the essence of progress. But Packard believes that style can, and should be, used in the best interests of the car owner, rather than against them.

This is why Packard makes its style changes with common sense and restraint, rather than with sensationalism.

So, again for 1939, you will find Packards re-styled, more beautiful than ever. But you will also find them unmistakably Packards—no one has to guess what they are.

And, again, you will find new advances in Packard design and construction—new evidences of the quality that contributes a long mechanical life to match Packard enduring identity.

See your Packard dealer today. Discover that a Packard—the car that is built to last longer and look well longer—is surprisingly easy to buy, own and run. It costs nothing to get the facts.

We'll deliver a new 1939 Packard Six 5-Passenger Sedan to your door, with standard equipment for only $1145
